Artist Likes All Media

By PATTY BEUTLER
Star Staff Writer

Steve Gross is a young artist who hasn't "found a medium yet that I don't like to work with."

Yarn and cord are as much at his creative whim as ceramics and acrylics.

"Art's really kind of what I like best about what I'm doing," declared the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Klintberg, 1621 Kingston.

A 9th-grader at Culler Jr. High School, Steve admits that it was art teacher Mrs. Verna Peterson who has given him the inspiration to pursue the arts.

"I take what we learn at school and use it for myself," he confided.

Weaving Lately

Weaving is what he's been working on lately.

"You can use anything you pick up for looms," advised the versatile 14-year-old craftsman.

He's got one piece currently going on an embroidery hoop loom with a curtain ring in the center and another on a plywood frame stapled together so it can be reused.

Kite string wrapped around rows of nails on a wooden frame form the loom for Steve's first attempt at weaving a picture transcribed from an old tee-shirt design.

"I like to work with earth tones," noted Steve who has woven old bark, reeds, and feathers right into his free-form designs.

Used Dish Rack

Rummaging through the garage, he found a piece of an old dish-rack which he wrapped with yarn and incorporated into his latest work.

Sprawled out in a comfy bean-bag chair at home, Steve starts his hangings with no pattern or stitches in mind. "I just let it go and it gives me a pattern — it just works itself out," he said.

Steve's knack with textiles has not gone unnoticed. Most of what he's done has been entered in local exhibits and one of his pieces still hangs in the public schools administration building "spotlight on art" exhibit.

Won Junior Finalist

And just last Feburary a textile design of Steve's won a junior finalist place in the Nebraska Scholastic Art Awards exhibit and was forwarded to New York for national competition.

A member of the junior art guild, Steve was one of two dozen kids who went to the Year of the Arts four-day workshop at Grandpa's Woods in early June.

There he learned, among other things, how to make an outdoor kiln by digging a pit for charcoal and wood, bricking around the back and tunneling it so the air can flow through.

He hopes to fire some home-made ceramics in a similar type pit if he can talk his sister out of her old record player and rig it up as a potters wheel!

In Break-In Case:

Ehrlichman Guilty

WASHINGTON (AP) — John D. Ehrlichman, once one of the ranking members of President Nixon's White House staff, was convicted Friday of conspiracy and perjury in the Ellsberg break-in case.

Ehrlichman, 49, Nixon's chief domestic adviser until he resigned in April, 1973, amid rising Watergate scandals, said after the verdict he had doubted all along he could get a fair trial in Washington and said he would appeal.

The verdict made Ehrlichman one of the most powerful government officials ever convicted of a crime. Interior Secretary Albert B. Fall went to jail for a year in 1931 in the Teapot Dome scandals.

Others of such high rank have been charged in the past but never convicted, including Nixon's former attorney general and re-election campaign manager, John N. Mitchell, and former commerce secretary and campaign fund-raiser Maurice Stans, who were acquitted by a jury in the Robert Vesco case in March.

Former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor for his testimony in the ITT case but was given a suspended sentence.

The jury convicted Ehrlichman, G. Gordon Liddy, Bernard L. Barker and Eugenio R. Martinez of a civil rights charge of conspiring to enter the Beverly Hills, Calif., office of Dr. Lewis Fielding and examine his files on Daniel Ellsberg, the man who leaked the Pentagon papers.

This count carries a maximum prison sentence of 10 years. Ehrlichman also was convicted of three other counts, carrying a potential five years each, and was cleared of the fifth.

This leaves Ehrlichman subject to a possible total of 25 years sentence, although he is expected to receive somewhat less than that, when U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell passes sentence, set for July 31. The defendants remain free pending sentencing.

Ehrlichman still faces trial in September in the Watergate cover-up case, along with Mitchell, former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman, former Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert Mardian and two others.

Liddy, Barker and Martinez, who were convicted last year in connection with the 1972 break-in at Democratic Party headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex, were charged only in the conspiracy count.

Ehrlichman, however, also was convicted of one count of lying to the FBI and two counts of committing perjury before the Watergate grand jury.

Outside the courthouse following the verdict, Ehrlichman said he had met with his lawyers and instructed them to prepare and file an appeal.

In pretrial motions, Ehrlichman had asked the trial be moved to another city on grounds that Washington preoccupation with Watergate and the city's heavy black population and traditional support of the Democratic party would make a fair trial here impossible.

The jury which convicted Ehrlichman contained nine blacks and three whites, roughly the racial balance of the Washington population.

Word of the conviction reached President Nixon as he was en route to San Clemente on his plane, the Spirit of '76.

None of the defendants or their friends or relatives showed any emotion as jury foreman W.A. Garner, a retired lift operator for the Government Printing Office, read the verdict.

The jury had gotten the case at 11:25 a.m., took a two-hour lunch break and reported to Gesell at 5:05 p.m. it had reached a verdict.

In connection with the conspiracy count, Ehrlichman was accused of authorizing the Fielding-Ellsberg operation, Liddy with directing it and Barker and Martinez with actually breaking into Fielding's office and going through his files.

Ehrlichman was convicted of lying to FBI agents in an interview on March 1, 1973, in which he said he had not seen any records of the White House's Pentagon Papers investigation for over a year. The government charged he had actually looked at them less than two months earlier and even removed some documents from the file.

Two other counts on which Ehrlichman was convicted said he lied to a grand jury on May 14, 1973, when he said he had learned only after the break-in that the White House plumbers unit carried out the operation, was working on a psychological profile of Ellsberg and that efforts had been made to obtain information from Ellsberg and Fielding.

The government produced a series of documents and witnesses which it said proved Ehrlichman had known about these things before the break-in. Ehrlichman had contended he had merely forgotten and was not lying.

The jury cleared Ehrlichman of a fifth count which charged that he lied to the same grand jury when he said former aide Egil Krogh had files on the plumbers unit but failed to mention himself or another ex-aide, David Young.

In his charge to the jury, U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell said the break-in at Fielding's office would have been illegal even if done for patriotism or the nation's safety, as defense lawyers had suggested.

The judge told the six men and six women of the jury that the government does not have the right to cast aside the constitutional ban on unlawful search and seizure and violate every citizen's right "to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects."

Dryland Losses Expected

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

Nebraska's farmers who grow corn on dryland may have already lost half of their corn crop, according to John Furrer, professor of agronomy (plant science) at the University of Nebraska.

Furrer has just completed a tour of most of the dryland corn growing area of Nebraska and western Iowa which has been suffering from hot, dry weather for more than five weeks.

"Even if it started raining tonight and rained for a week at least half of the corn will never make an ear. Most of it is a kind of grey-green color with many of the leaves completely dried out. Corn simply doesn't recover when it has gotten to this point," Furrer said.

Could Use As Fodder

Asked what farmers could do with the crop, he said "you might make it into fodder. I don't think it would make very good silage because it is too low in carbohydrates. There is a real danger of high nitrates which can be fatal to cattle. It should be fed with some other feed rather than alone," he said.

Furrer suggested it would be a good idea to run some nitrate tests on samples if possible before feeding it.

Soybean and milo fields on dryland are also hurting but not as bad as corn. "There has been some yield loss but we can still get a fair crop if it rains very soon," he said.

Only 45% of the state's corn crop is irrigated with farmers hard-pressed to get water to all the irrigated corn.

Only a small portion of the milo and soybeans are irrigated.

Rains Affect Wheat

Ironically, wheat farmers in the Potter area had to stop harvesting wheat Friday because of rains. "We may try to put some wheat through the grain dryer this afternoon," reported Ray Davis, a Potter area wheat grower.

Farmers who have irrigation systems will also probably get lower yields than they might have if it had rained and was cooler.

"The corn plant just can't stand this kind of stress from heat and wind for this long period of time even if it is standing in water. We might also see pollination problems because of heat damage to silk and the pollen in the tassels," suggested Howard Elm, executive secretary of the Nebraska Grain and Feed Dealers Association.

Elm noted that farmers had nearly ceased selling wheat and other grains because of the dry weather.

Slayer Sought In Aurora Area

Aurora (AP) — State and county authorities heightened their efforts late Friday to find whoever shot and killed a service station attendant during a holdup south of here earlier in the day.

Hamilton County Sheriff Bill Schultz said Lester Schmidt, 24, Hampton, died about 4:15 p.m. Friday. He was shot in the head three times during the robbery.

Schultz said officials were looking for two different vehicles seen at the station during the time period in which the holdup occurred.

The sheriff speculated that the incident occurred between 2:40 a.m. and the time a state trooper arrived on the scene at 3:50 a.m.

The trooper, Paul Harding, drove into the Phillips 66 station at the Interstate 80 Aurora interchange to get oil for his car.

Harding said he got out of his car and opened the hood, but no one came out to help him so he walked into the station to investigate.

When Harding entered the station, he looked around, then heard a "gurgling" coming from the restroom.

The trooper rushed into the restroom to find Schmidt, unconscious, lying on his back on the floor, his mouth rapidly filling with blood from the three gunshot wounds.

Harding turned Schmidt on his side to drain the blood, then called for assistance.

Schmidt was rushed to Aurora Memorial Hospital, where he was listed in very critical condition until his death. A hospital spokesman said Schmidt never regained consciousness.

Schultz said the station's 50-pound cash register was stolen, and that about $500 was missing.

Investigators searched roadside ditches in the area for possible clues, and even pressed a helicopter into service at mid-afternoon to aid the effort.

Schultz said there were few leads in the case.

Schmidt was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schmidt of Hampton.

The Hamilton County sheriff's office said the service station where Schmidt was employed is operated by Gary Nuss of Aurora.

Armed Standoff Goes On

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations were reported to have hit a snag Friday in efforts to end an armed standoff between policemen and two convicts holding seven hostages at gunpoint in the U.S. District courthouse.

The siege involving hundreds of heavily armed officers began at 2 p.m. Thursday when one of the convicts produced a gun and he and a companion seized eight hostages in a basement cellblock. One of the eight, a deputy marshal, was released before dawn Friday.

"The hostages are mine . . . the hostages are going to remain mine," Frank Gorham, 25, said in a telephone conversation with a newsman.

Gorham and the other convict, Robert Jones, who also uses the name Otis D. Wilkerson, were demanding their freedom and a plane to take them out of the country.

Ervin Says Evidence Will Speak For Itself

Washington (UPI) — Declaring it had set out evidence which "speaks for itself," the Senate Watergate Committee formally went out of business Friday.

Chairman Sen. Sam J. Ervin, who dominated the hearings which entranced millions on television last summer, said the committee would draw no conclusions about President Nixon's role in the scandal because of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry.

"We just set forth the evidence," Ervin said at a news conference with three other committee Senators. "The evidence speaks for itself."

"You know there are two ways to prove a horse is a horse," said Ervin. "One way is to draw a picture of a horse. The other way is to write under the picture, 'This is a horse.' We just drew the picture."

The committee concluded its work with a 2,217-page, three-volume study which will be released Sunday.

Most of the contents has already been leaked to the press, but the Senators in their final news conference gave some of their conslusions. With Ervin were Sens. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, and Joseph Montoya, D-N.M.

They agreed the investigation provided no evidence to "refute" testimony by John W. Dean III, Nixon's former counsel and now his chief accuser.

Ervin, lacing his remarks with Biblical and Roman quotations, said:

"The lust for political power of the presidential aides who perpetrated Watergate on America blinded them to the laws of God as well as to the laws and ethics of man. I find corroboration for my conclusion that lust for political power produced Watergate . . .

"The only sure antidote for future Watergates is understanding of fundamental principles and intellectual and moral integrity in the men and women who achieve or are entrusted with governmental or political power."

Ervin said the committee recommends creation of a new office of "public attorney" to handle cases where public officials are charged with wrongdoing.

Among findings in the report cited by the senators were:

— That Congress step up its watchdog responsibilities over government agencies, particularly the executive branch.

— No evidence was received that the Republican National Committee or the Democratic National Committee were guilty of any wrongdoing in the 1972 presidential campaign.

— The purpose of the Watergate break-in was "to gain political intelligence."

High Honors To 2 At NU

Two students received their degrees "with high distinction" Friday at the end of the first summer session at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Kevin Chambers Leitch, son of The Rev. Glover A. Leitch, 1908 Sewell St., Lincoln, majored in history in the College of Arts and Sciences. He plans to attend Harvard Law School.

Laura Ulrich Ronning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Ulrich, Route 1, DeWitt, majored in elementary and special education. She will teach 4th and fifth grades in the Ashland-Greenwood

USDA Expert Sees No Spiraling Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Agriculture Department economist said Friday he does not think retail food prices will soar the remainder of this year because of reduced harvest prospects for 1974 grain crops.

Don Paarlberg, director of economics for the USDA, said he is sticking by an earlier prediction that consumer food prices are most likely to go up 12 per cent for all of 1974.

Paarlberg said the department will analyze new farm crop harvest information and will issue revised figures for retail food prices later.

"I cannot say now, but I would be surprised if there is a major revision," Paarlberg told a news conference.

However, Paarlberg said farm prices of cattle, hogs, broiler chickens, eggs, wheat and some other commodities have risen in recent weeks. Thus, he predicted, wholesale prices for those products in July will go up sharply.

There was no estimate of 1974 U.S. corn production, but the new report did show the harvest could range from a low of 5.9 billion bushels to a high of 6.4 billion. Earlier, a crop of 6.7 billion bushels was projected by the department.

Paarlberg said that even if the corn harvest turned out to be 5.9 billion, it still would be record large and provide enough grain to meet domestic and export demands as well as adding some to reserve supplies in the year ahead.

Last Action To Slice Up Big Baloney

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Watergate Committee's last official act Friday was slicing a 10-pound baloney.

The baloney was presented to Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., evidently as a response to White House charges this week that the committee's final report would be "warmed over baloney."

Ervin held the baloney over his head for photographers, then handed it to chief counsel Samuel L. Dash, who cut it with a large knife.

"It's my job to select the evidence," said Dash, who passed the plate to reporters awaiting the release of the committee's final report. "Have some baloney," he said.

Baptism Carries Great Responsibility

Varner For One Postsecondary Board

University of Nebraska President D. B. Varner says he advocates, albeit cautiously, establishment of a single board to govern all public postsecondary educational institutions in Nebraska.

That board should have the responsibility to set broad policies and the authority to put them into action, he said in prepared remarks to the Nebraska Coordinating Council for Postsecondary Education, meeting in Omaha.

Varner said his statement represents his personal views and not necessarily those of the university as an institution or its board of regents.

"I cast a cautious vote for coordination" of higher education, he said, warning "against excessive expectations."

He said "it would be unwise" to assume that coordination of higher education in the state "will achieve significant dollar savings."

Although Nebraska has been cited as "one of only two or three states" without a coordinated system, that "may not be all bad," considering the state's sparse population, relatively simple higher education system and history of cooperative relationships, he said.

In opting for a single board to govern higher education statewide, Varner ruled out two other options: Voluntary coordination, he said, is ineffective; a coordinating council created by statute or constitution and superimposed on existing governing bodies leads to conflicts in authority.

His idea for a single board, which he allowed needs refinement and modification, proposes 14 or 15 members. Eight would be elected on a nonpartisan basis from existing regental districts; either six or seven would be appointed by the governor with the consent of the Legislature.

If his model were adopted, Varner said no other board or bureaucracy would be created, thus maintaining maximum continuity. Vesting responsibility and authority in a single panel would minimize political infighting, he said.

"There is growing apprehension" that four-year colleges, as well as moving into graduate education, will expand into and compete with traditional community college programs, he said. Meanwhile, community colleges are moving into areas such as human health care and agriculture.

Such potential conflicts could be reconciled, permitting maximum sharing of educational resources under a single board responsible for all those institutions, he said. The board could also approach avoiding duplication of programs in specific geographical areas.

Varner said a single board would allow development of a statewide plan for Nebraskans' educational needs, coordinated budgets, a single point of accountability, a systematic study of student financial aid, and better serving of minorities.

Exon Pleased With Success Of School Bill Petition Drive

By The Associated Press

Gov. J. James Exon said Friday he was pleased that a petition drive to put a state aid to education bill before the voters apparently succeeded.

Referring to LB772, Exon said this is the unfair $100 million tax increase bill that was sold under the guise of state aid to education."

"I will abide by the voters' decision," Exon said. "The people will determine by their vote on this issue Nov. 5 whether state taxes will be automatically increased next year by the state board of equalization which will meet a few days after the election."

Exon said speculation that it may be unconstitutional to put the bill on the November ballot was "hogwash."

Exon said article III, section 3 of the Nebraska Constitution guarantees the right of referendum by petition on any act or part of an act of the legislature except for appropriations for the expense of the state government or an existing state institution.

Exon said his Republican opponent, State Sen. Richard Marvel, "unbelievably . . . was not even in favor of the people having the right to vote on the proposition."

"If Sen. Marvel is sincere in his oft-repeated contention to cut the sales tax, he must change his position on LB772 or it will be confirmed once again that his campaign is based on misleading double talk," Exon said.

Exon said he was in favor of the people voting on the issue and "hope that they will sustain my veto of the bill, notwithstanding Sen. Marvel's opposite position which will surely increase state tax rates and erode local control of education."

Exon said if voters reject the bill, "then I hope the legislature will accept my fair and reasonable state aid to education measure, with real estate tax reductions, that I have presented but which has been rejected by the majority of the legislature in favor of LB772."

Exon congratulated State Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappel and others who worked on the petition drive.

DAC Unsure Of Future

Downtown Advisory Committee (DAC) members Friday attempted to delineate what role they will have in the implementation of the downtown plan, now nearing completion.

During the past year, a DAC subcommittee, dubbed the Management Team, has been charged with overseeing early projects and making initial decisions.

DAC member Paul Amen questioned the need to continue the team now that DAC's planning days approach an end.

Amen maintained that of all the groups on which he has served, DAC has received the best public acceptance because of its wide-spread representation.

Team Chairman George Williamson lobbied for the team approach, saying the subcommittee was less cumbersome and could reach decisions faster than the 13-member DAC.

Barton-Aschman consultant Bob Teska said, however, that he did not see the continued operation of the team, which would act as a steering committee, as inconsistent with DAC's changing role from planning to implementation.

City Studying Solid Waste Plan

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said Friday that the city will continue to study the possibility of converting Lincoln's tons of solid waste to burnable fuel.

The mayor reitereated his acceptance of the Lincoln Electric System's (LES) stand to phase out the operation of the K Street power plant in May, 1976.

The mayor's statement was in apparent response to County Board Chairman Bob Colin's letter earlier this week questioning that decision.

Colin had pointed out that a report from the Southeast Chapter of Professional Engineers calls for the conversion of solid waste to fuel at the K Street Plant.

Schwartzkopf pointed out that a number of LES studies show that the plant is old and inefficient and that the city would have to invest sizeable sums of money to rebuild the plant for the burning of solid waste.

Other Costs

For instance, the mayor said it would cost:

— $3 million for additional land to prepare for the handling of solid waste.

— $3 million to install electrostatic precipitators to meet Environmental Protection Agency standards.

— $200,000 to modify the plant's boilers.

Additionally the mayor said it would cost about $16 per ton to process the solid waste, while an equivalent amount of coal costs $8. It now costs about $1.25 per ton to operate the sanitary landfill.

Schwartzkopf also said the plant could only dispose of 20% of Lincolnites' average daily waste.

Decline Equal In Doctors, Population

By The Associated Press

Nebraska counties losing population are losing physicians at about the same rate, according to the Nebraska Medical Assn.

A report by the association's health planning committee said the entire state has about the same ratio of physicians to population as it did 20 years ago.

Census figures show that 70 counties lost population from 1950 to 1970, averaging 18%. The same counties showed a 19% decrease in their number of physicians.

The state had an 11% population gain during the 20-year period and the number of practicing physicians has increased by about the same percentage, officials said.

NU Nursing Funds Arrive

By The Associated Press

The funding picture for the new University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Nursing looks brighter than it did a week ago.

A U.S. Public Health Service grant application, first proposed in 1972, is finally coming through, officials said.

The school is to open this fall.

Lois Merrill, NU Associate Dean of Nursing in charge of the Lincoln program, said the three-year application will provide $172,320 this year.

Subsequent grants, if funded in Washington, would total $246,208 in 1975 and $254,606 in 1976, Miss Merrill said.

Until the grant notification was received the college program had just $67,000 in an appropriation of state funds.

The federal grant, including some money earmarked for renovation of a building, "will make the difference between an austere program and the kind we want to start at Lincoln," she said.

$900 Spent To Support Trial Followers So Far

More than $900 has been spent by the Lincoln Committee of Concerned People (LCCP) since collections began for support of Wounded Knee trial followers in Lincoln.

The organization's first financial report lists expenses of $920 since May 15, according to the Rev. Robert Jeambey, LCCP general chairman.

The group's balance Friday was about $600, according to the Rev. Mr. Jeambey.

A major source of financial support has been local churches, he said. He added that seven churches have sent contributions so far, and pledges from 23 others have been received.

Contributions also have amounted to more than $2,000 in kind, he said. These include plumbing, bedding, furniture and cooking utensils, in addition to a $500 food gift from one church.

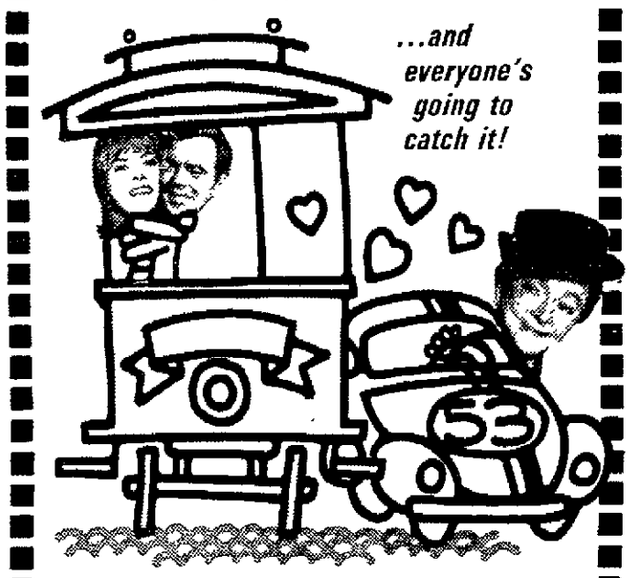

Most donations should now be in cash, the Rev. Mr. Jeambey said. Emerging problems include payment for utilities and transportation, the group's two biggest expenses.

An application to the national Protestant Episcopal Church has been made for a 12-passenger van in an effort to solve some transportation problems, according to the Rev. Mr. Jeambey. The group currently uses a van from St. Paul United Methodist Church.

LCCP issued an appeal Friday to churches also to donate fans, pillows, large cooking pots and syrup pitchers, the Rev. Mr. Jeambey said.

The LCCP projected budget to cover the estimated trial period of one year in Lincoln is $13,500.

Petersen Saw No Sign Nixon In On Cover-Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen told the House Judiciary Committee on Friday he never received any information indicating the President was involved in the Watergate cover-up.

During a closed session of the committee's impeachment inquiry, Petersen was asked by Rep. Charles Sandman, R-N.J., "Have you ever had any information that the President was wrongfully involved?"

Sandman later told newsmen, "Petersen said he had no information or evidence the President was wrongfully involved."

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., confirmed Sandman's version of the exchange and said, "Petersen is testifiying pointblank that the President didn't know about the cover-up"

However, Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr., R-N.Y., noted that Petersen has not been "on top of the case" for more than one year.

"He doesn't know what we know," said Fish, who noted Petersen had told the committee he had not read all of the edited White House transcripts and was unfamiliar with other developments in the case.

Petersen, head of the criminal division in the Justice Department, supervised the initial investigation of the Watergate break-in.

He told the committee of a series of conversations he had with President Nixon in April 1973 during which he briefed Nixon about the progress of the Watergate investigation.

Petersen said he gave the President information about developments in the secret sessions of the Watergate grand jury but had been unaware that the President subsequently relayed what he said to aides.

Fish said Petersen contended it was proper to tell the President what was happening before the grand jury.

"The problem is to what use it is put," Fish quoted Petersen as telling the committee Then the New York Republican added: "Then Petersen passed the buck back to us and said that's for you gentlemen to decide."

After the morning session, Rep. John Seiberling, R-Ohio, characterized Petersen's testimony as "dynamite" but did not elaborate.

James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's defense lawyer, described Petersen's testimony as "very favorable" to the President.

Asked if he could reconcile the different characterizations of the testimony, Albert Jenner, minority counsel for the impeachment inquiry, laughed and said, "That's what I'd call a conflict." He declined to give his own assessment.

When St. Clair arrived for the start of the closed session, he was asked how he thought his defense was progressing and whether he thought the best chance for defeat of an impeachment resolution was on the House floor rather than in the committee with its 21 to 17 Democratic majority.

The White House lawyer commented that he'd be happy to have the committee reject an impeachment resolution and then he added:

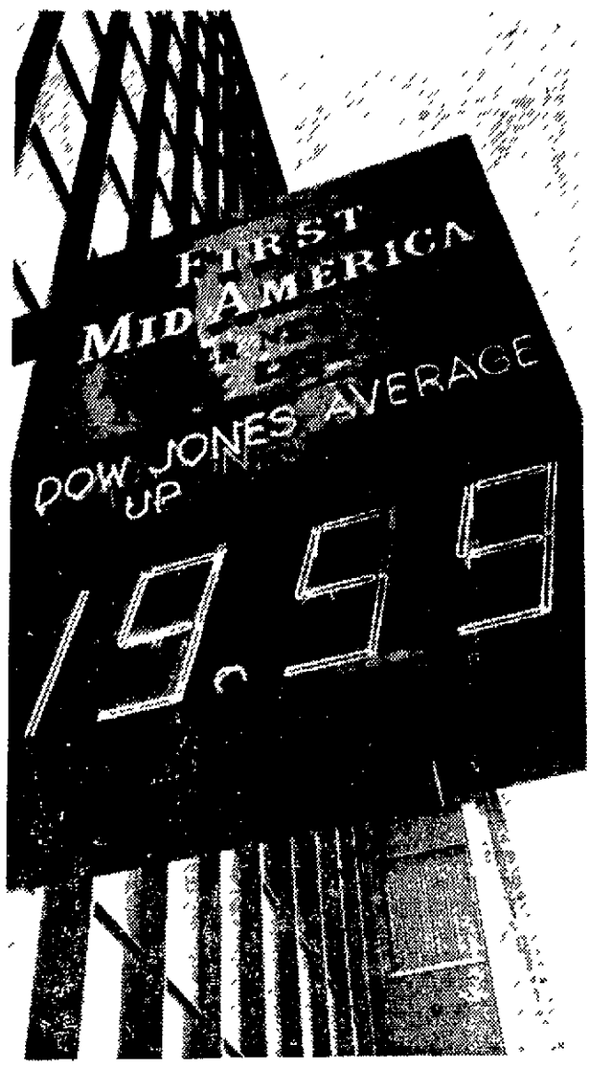

"Politics being what they are it wouldn't be very knowledgeable on my part to be unrealistic."

Asked if he was suggesting the committee would base its action on partisan political grounds, St. Clair replied, "Not at all. The impeachment process is undeniably a political process and the Constitution envisioned it as such."

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren told newsmen at the White House that the President agreed with St. Clair that the committee probably will vote impeachment. Warren said the President believes, however, that the full House will reject impeachment

But when the Judiciary Committee broke for lunch, St. Clair denied he has predicted what the committee would do.

After St. Clair's statement, Warren retracted his statement, saying "I made a mistake."

Market Tops Signs Capacity

With the stock market giving its strongest performance of the year Friday, the sign reporting the Dow-Jones industrial average at Lincoln's First Mid-America office was overtaxed Officials of the firm say the sign can't report any figure above 19.99, although the average went up 27.61 points. Earlier in the week the sign reported a drop of 19 99, when the Dow had dropped 20.21 points. (Star Photo.)

Food Price Rise Predicted

. . . Wholesale Index Increase Lowest In 8 Months

Washington (UPI) — Herbert Stein, the President's chief economic adviser, predicted Thursday that food prices would go up again this month after four months of decline and said inflation was still serious despite the lowest wholesale price increase in eight months.

White House spokesman Gerald Warren, meanwhile, told reporters the nation's economy was "now beginning to expand slowly." But he said the 10% inflation rate remained the nation's No. 1 problem.

Stein's forecast and Warren's comments followed a Labor Department report that the wholesale price index had risen by 0.5% in June.

The overall wholesale price index for June stood at 155.7, the department said. This was 14.5% higher than the figure for June 1973.

"The economy is now beginning to expand slowly, recovering from the energy shortage," Warren said.

Last month's wholesale price index increase was the smallest since last November's 0.4%. The slowed climb was attributed largely to continued declines during June in the cost of farm products and processed foods, which dropped by 3.4%.

Industrial prices rose rapidly during the month, however, paced by metals which climbed 3.1%. Statistics showed that had farm prices gone up instead of down, the total wholesale price index for the month would have been much higher.

"The June increase of industrial prices — 2.2% — was large and reveals the seriousness of the inflation with which the nation is contending," Stein said. This increase pushed industrial prices 29.9% higher than one year ago.

Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, also suggested that food prices would again rise in July. But he said the increase probably would be at a lesser pace than those of 1973.

The gap between a consumer price increase of 10.7% during the past year and the much sharper wholesale price growth over the same period, meanwhile, painted a bleak picture for consumers in months ahead since present wholesale prices usually are reflected in future consumer prices.

Warren 'Classical American'

Washington (UPI) — Former Chief Justice Earl Warren, eulogized as "the classical American," was buried with honors at Arlington National Cemetery Friday following services attended by some of the nation's top leaders.

President Nixon was among those at Washington's National Cathedral, with its bright flag and soaring Gothic arches, during the funeral of the man who presided over the Supreme Court during the 16 years when it was shaping a new era of jurisprudence.

Warren's body then was borne across the Potomac River for burial on a sunny knoll near the grave of former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Rabbi Alvin Fine of San Francisco, one of those presiding over services at the cathedral, said of Warren:

"Human decency and kindness was so instinctive, honor and dignity so natural in him that there could be no unguarded moments of indiscretion when he was anyone but the true Earl Warren . . .

"In his political and judicial career, as well as in his personal life, Earl Warren was the classical American."

His body was committed to burial to the words: "May the soul of Chief Justice Earl Warren rest in peace. We commit his body to the earth from which it came. May the Lord receive him"

A U S Army detail fired three volleys. A bugler sounded Taps. The Army band played "America the Beautiful." Military pallbearers in blue folded the flag that draped the casket and gave it to Chief Justice Warren E Burger who presented it to Mrs. Warren.

The justices then shook hands with members of the family and said some final words of sympathy to Mrs. Warren.

Warren died of heart failure Tuesday at age 83.

His flag-draped casket lay in state in the Supreme Court's Great Hall Thursday and Friday morning beside the black-draped chair Warren occupied until he retired in 1969. A steady stream of mourners — from prominent attorneys to youngsters in blue jeans — filed past it to pay their last respects.

Warren's funeral brought together Nixon and the eight members of the Supreme Court who are now considering a Watergate case that may decisively affect his presidency.

The President and Mrs. Nixon sat on the front row at the cathedral. Nixon escorted Warren's widow — her face covered by a long black veil — from the cathedral at the end of the service.

Past and present members of the court, who had said one farewell from the plaza of the court building, served as honorary pallbearers.

Nixon Estate Payment Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has arranged a six-month postponement of his final mortgage payment on his San Clemente estate, officials said Friday.

Originally, a balloon payment of $226,660 was due Monday, along with $17,000 in interest.

Under a new arrangement which officials said was being worked out Friday, the President immediately will pay the interest, a small amount of the principal plus an "interest premium" for the right to extend the final payment by six months

The officials, who talked to a reporter as the President was flying toward the ocean-side home for a working vacation, said a similar extension also was being obtained by an investment company formed by two of the President's friends to help him buy the property.

According to the arrangement worked out by his California lawyer and officials of Title Insurance & Trust, the new balloon payment on the mortgage would be due in mid-January, the officials said.

They said Nixon's mortgage interest rate of 7.5 per cent would remain unchanged This is something of a break for the President, since mortgage rates have risen to 9 per cent or more since he bought the property in 1969.

Dean S. Butler, the Los Angeles lawyer who has taken over the bulk of Nixon's personal legal business worked out the arrangement through the trust company and representatives of the Cotton estate, the sellers of the property to Nixon and holder of the mortgage, the sources said.

The President's savings accounts were virtually wiped out earlier this year when the Internal Revenue Service assessed him for $432,787 in back taxes.

An official familiar with Nixon's finances said the President would be making the interest payment and partial principle payment from personal funds.

Paper Says Impeach

Hartford, Conn. (UPI) — The Hartford Courant has called for the impeachment of President Nixon in its lead editorial.

Nixon OKs Stronger Congressional Control Of Pursestrings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed on Friday a landmark budget-making reform bill giving Congress a tighter grasp on federal pursestrings and curbing his own power to impound money that legislators want spent.

"Fighting inflation is everybody's battle," Nixon said.

The bill, creating new congressional machinery, provides reform of the legislative budgetary process in a bid to give lawmakers a more effective over-all grip on federal budget and spending priorities.

The last such attempt at reform, in 1946, failed — procedures were set up but never were implemented because of bickering in Congress. That left the system of voting funds for government agencies in its presently fragmented condition.

The new plan calls for two powerful budget committees — one in the House, the other in the Senate — supported by a congressional budget office and staffs of experts. The government's fiscal year, currently starting July 1, would be moved to Oct. 1 starting in 1976.

After the President offers his spending proposals, the new committees would develop and Congress would pass, by May 15 each year, a target resolution setting out total spending and a breakdown by major categories.

This is expected to provide debate over priorities Separate money bills then could be passed, as at present, but all would be subject to review, and, by Sept. 15, Congress would adopt a second budget resolution — either calling for adjustments to meet the previously adopted ceilings, or changing the ceilings. The budget process would be completed by Sept. 25.

The switch in the date for starting the new fiscal year, therefore, would mean that each year the government would start spending on an up-to-date basis instead of beginning — as it now does — in fiscal uncertainty with most appropriations still pending

On impoundment, which has been a battleground for Nixon and the Democrat-dominated Congress, the new law requires congressional approval for the President to withhold money as a definite reduction in spending. If the impoundment merely delayed funds, the President could order it but either house of Congress could veto the delay.

Man Loses Big Winnings

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP)—Lee Beaman was a big winner at the Ak-Sar Ben race track in Omaha Wednesday. But the winning feeling was short lived.

Beaman, 34, told police that the more than $1,000 he won at the track was stolen sometime after he arrived home at 2:30 a.m. Thursday.

Beaman said he left a $1,000 bill and several $1 bills in the pocket of his pants which he hung on a dining room chair.

In the morning, his wife discovered the back door of the home had been forced open, Beaman told police. His billfold and pants were found alongside the house with the money missing, police said.

Chemistry Scholarships, Awards Announced

Nine University of Nebraska-Lincoln chemistry students have been named recipients of scholarships and awards based on their performances at the undergraduate level.

The first Viola C. Jelinek Scholarship of $1,000 was awarded to Elizabeth M. Slattery, a senior from Grand Island majoring in chemistry. The scholarship is to be awarded annually to a senior chemistry student who has attained superior scholastic ranking and who plans to pursue graduate work in chemistry or medicine.

Miss Slattery was also one of five seniors who received Department of Chemistry Sustained Achievement Awards of $50 each, given to chemistry majors who will have accumulated 30 semester hours of "A" in chemistry courses by graduation.

Others receiving the award were: James E. Guilford, Oconto, and Richard C. Brunken, Omaha and Joseph M. Mahaffy, and Gary L. Bryant, both of Lincoln.

Mahaffy also received the American Institute of Chemists Medal given to outstanding chemistry students graduating from colleges and universities throughout the country. Mahaffy is majoring in both chemistry and mathematics and plans to study applied mathematics at the graduate level.

Seniors Frederick P. Ogren and Wai-Chung Cheung, both of Lincoln, received Merck Awards given by Merck and Co., Inc., to outstanding students in chemistry. Ogren has begun medical studies at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha.

Theophilus O. Okeke of Nigeria was the recipient of the Outstanding Freshman Award given to the freshman student who demonstrates the greatest achievement in freshman chemistry. The award, given annually by the Chemical Rubber Co. Press, is the current edition of the "CRC Handbook of Chemistry" and an awards scroll.

Michael Craren, Omaha, was named winner of an Undergraduate Award in Analytical Chemistry given by the Divison of Analytical Chemistry of the American Chemical Society. The award is given to junior chemistry majors who display an interest in and an aptitude for a career in analytical chemistry. The award consists of a 15-month subscription to "Analytical Chemistry."

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

Science Grant Received

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln's Chemistry Department has received a $17,600 matching grant from the National Science Foundation to purchase equipment for use in undergraduate chemistry courses.

The grant will be administered under the direction of Charles L. Wilkins, NU associate professor of chemistry.

The NSF's Instructional Science Equipment program is one of several NSF activities designed to help colleges and universities improve the quality of undergraduate science instruction by updating courses and teaching laboratories.

Life Begins At Forty:

Elders Are Respected In Primitive Societies

By ROBERT PETERSON

We are all familiar with civilized attitudes toward older people. Despite what some critics say, modern elders receive considerable attention and affection from societyi in general. But what about less civilized cultures?

"Primitive people generally treat those who are old with warmth and kindness," says Dr. Leo W. Simmons in his book, "Role of the Aged in Primitive Society."

It seems there was even an element of kindness in the bygone practice of certain Eskimo groups which abandoned helpless elders in the snow or put them on ice floes. "Eskimos have always treated elders with respect," the author writes, "but this did not prevent them from putting old folks out of the way when they became hopelessly ill and a burden to the group.

"This act, when practiced, was usually in accord with the wishes of the older person himself, and was thought to be proof of devotion. Those who died in this manner were believed to receive special compensations, for in death they would be transported to the highest heaven.

Dr. Simmons says that while primitive people are kind to their elders, they do not necessarily show them great respect and veneration unless they have some particular assets, such as extensive knowledge, seasoned experience, expert talents, power to work magic, exercise of priestly functions, or control of property rights.

"In primitive life the family is the safest haven for the aged," continues Dr. Simmons. "Family ties are most intimate and long lasting, and the astute old man or woman has not infrequently manipulated such bonds to personal advantage."

Typifying the latter are many food taboos found in primitive societies, which have apparently been designed by elders to assure themselves a good food supply. Among many examples cited in the book are taboos practiced by the Arunta tribe of Australia where wild turkeys and their eggs must be reserved for the aged, with penalties of bad tempers for any young who eat them.

Whatever the respect shown elders in primitive societies, we Americans can be mighty glad fate gave us a civilized setting for our mature years. Circumstances for modern elders may not be perfect, but we enjoy a string of blessings and benefits far beyond the imagination of elders in previous generations.

Our good fortune is better realized when we consider that elders living just half a century ago knew nothing of Social Security, Medicare, antibiotics to conquer such killers as pneumonia and tuberculosis, retirement colonies, day centers, or a host of other programs designed to make old age something to be savored and anticipated.

A Check On Nuclear Giveaway

Concerned about the President's generosity on his recent trip to the world's powder keg, Congress has decided to look into U.S. laws concerning nuclear proliferation.

As a sweetheart's bouquet to Egypt and a sop to Israel, Nixon promised both countries that the U.S. would provide them with nuclear reactors for the generation of electrical power and perhaps other peaceful uses. There are adequate safeguards to prevent the nuclear devices from being turned into the ultimate weapon, the President said.

Several observations can be made about Nixon's gift-giving, in addition to doubting the safety of safeguards. One, that sharing the nuclear wealth is good international politics. Two, that nuclear-generated power is one of the waves of the future. And three, that Israel might already have a nuclear military capability and if it doesn't it has the know-how to put it together And it isn't too hard to imagine, in that case, that the Arab world could get its hands on the bomb, too.

Notwithstanding the fact that nonproliferation is basically meaningless in that if a country that doesn't have a nuclear capability really wanted it, it could by some means achieve it, Congress wants to take a look at the restrictions on our capabilities of dispensing nuclear devices about the world.

Under present law, the President need only transmit an agreement with his endorsement to the Congressional Joint Atomic Committee for a period of 30 days. The only way Congress could block an agreement such as that between the U.S. and Egypt would be to pass a bill in opposition, which then could be vetoed.

This week, the Senate voted unanimously to give Congress veto power over such agreements as Nixon's promise to give Egypt and Israel nuclear reactors. An identical bill is awaiting House action.

Under this bill, such agreements could not go into effect if the Senate and House approved concurrent resolutions rejecting the proposals The resolutions would be binding on the president and could not be vetoed.

We think the legislation is sensible, even considering the apparent ease with which nuclear technology spreads. A congressional check on presidential generosity in this dangerous field is in order.

Downtown Revitalization

Nothing really new was outlined to Lincoln business, government and civic leaders Thursday when Barton-Aschman consultants reviewed the $100 million plan for the public and private redevelopment of the downtown area.

The approach now is to refine the tentative plans and get the multi-year project going, as emphasized by Downtown Advisory Committee (DAC) Chairman Dick White, who said the "real part of the downtown plan is its implementation."

White also noted recent City Council zoning decisions, including the denial of three outlying regional shopping center applications, in declaring that downtowners have a unique opportunity to revitalize the central business district. But, he warned, and we think this is important, businessmen would be foolish if they think those recent council decisions mean "we can sit back and do nothing."

We couldn't agree more. In a way, the recent council decisions, whether they were intended that way or not, serve as a mandate for the revitalization of downtown.

Since the time we were old enough to think about it, we have held the heartfelt conviction that Lincoln, Nebraska, is the most tranquil, nicest, most beautiful and liveable town on God's green earth. And our downtown is not in that bad a shape, either.

But even paradise, we imagine, needs a little spiffying up now and then. And as White mentioned, the next step in the plan is implementation.

FREDERICK M. JONES

They Had A Dream

Refrigerated trucks and railway cars daily crisscross the nation, hauling all manner of fresh foods for the American dinner table.

Few people know this was made possible by a Negro named Frederick McKinley Jones.

Before Jones put his wizardry to work, perishable foods were shipped packed in ice or in vehicles cooled by ice. On long hauls, any delay was disastrous.

In 1935, Jones invented the first automatic refrigeration system for long-haul trucks. Later it was adapted to a variety of other carriers, including ships and railway cars.

The invention eliminated the problem of spoilage. It revolutionized the eating habits of America.

☆ ☆ ☆

Born in Cincinnati in 1892, Jones was orphaned at the age of nine and never managed to get more than a sixth grade education.

Taken in by a kindly priest in Covington, Ky , Jones remained with him until he was 16, earning his keep by cooking and doing odd jobs around the rectory.

In 1906, the youth took a job setting pins in a bowling alley and from that switched to a job as mechanic's helper in a Cincinnati garage.

He became garage foreman, then quit to work as chief mechanic on a 30,000-acre Minnesota farm.

Jones served in France in World War I and after the war returned to the farm. As a hobby he designed racing cars which he raced on the dirt track circuit.

☆ ☆ ☆

In the late '20s, his mechanical fame spread when he invented a series of devices to adapt silent movie projectors to talkies. His first device cost $100 and was superior to the $3,000 commercial model.

Jones was hired by a movie supply firm in Minneapolis. A boast by his employer during a golf game with some friends led to Jones' invention of the refrigeration system for trucks.

One of the men in the game was a trucker who had just had a truckload of poultry spoil. Jones' employer said his firm could develop a refrigeration system to avoid that kind of problem. His friend took him up on the offer.

☆ ☆ ☆

Jones put together a refrigeration unit from junk parts and mounted it on the truck cab. It did the job. He and his employer then formed a company to manufacture the device. Jones became vice president.

The unit was later used in the transportation of rocket fuel and frozen foods. Later Jones developed an air-conditioning unit for military field hospitals, a portable X-ray machine and refrigerator for military field kitchens.

When he died in 1961, a total of some 60 patents had been issued in his name.

By ROBERT E. COLIN, SR.
Chairman, Lancaster County Board of Commissioners

Many citizens are utterly concerned and confused on the subject of the Wilderness Park, and rightfully they should be. Many people I have talked to have no idea what Wilderness Park is or where it is located. Wilderness Park is a narrow strip of wooded area running from south to north, following the route of Salt Creek, parallel to the west side of the City of Lincoln.

Wilderness Park is a wonderful place for those of us who enjoy the outdoor life. Wilderness Park offers several fine picnic areas provided by the City Park and Recreation Department. It also provides an area where one can follow the trails on foot or horseback. If you enjoy having an early morning breakfast outdoors and do not mind fighting off the mosquitos or dodging the poison ivy, noxious weeds and cockleburs. If you enjoy seeing dead timber, wildlife, wild flowers (including the beautiful musk thistle), then you will enjoy Wilderness Park as I have.

During the primary election in May of this year, one of the unsuccessful candidates in his bid for election to the County Board severely criticized members of the County Board and chose to make a political issue regarding the decision on the part of the majority of the County Board to approve the West Lincoln by-pass and its crossing of the Wilderness Park, and the trading of land with the Nebraska State Department of Roads. During his campaign, this candidate distributed leaflets informing the citizens that the decision made by the majority of the County Board to allow the crossing of the Wilderness Park would effectively destroy the unique wilderness quality of the entire park, and existing wildlife would be forced to leave the park area.

Soon after the election "The Wilderness Park Preservation Committee" was formed. This committee has, in addition to distributing the same printed campaign leaflets, cirulated petitions for signatures requesting the County Board, the mayor and the City Council to reverse their decision in approving the crossing of the Wilderness Park by the West Lincoln by-pass and the exchange of land.

What most citizens do not know (and this obviously includes the members of The Wilderness Park Preservation Committee), the original intent and thought behind Wilderness Park was not as a park but for flood control purposes. Those of us who have lived in Lancaster County for many more years than we care to admit remember well how the old Salt Creek used to flood and during its rampage caused thousands of dollars in damages to properties in the immediate area. Thanks to foresight on the part of many concerned citizens, the building of the beautiful lakes in Lancaster County have hopefully prevented future flooding in this area. However, realizing, as remote as it might be, flooding could become a reality again, it was then decided that the county should purchase property bordering Salt Creek to prevent further development in the flood plain area. To qualify for federal funds to help purchase this land, it was a federal requirement that the purchased land be classed as park land. The naming of Salt Creek and its bordering land as Wilderness Park was undoubtedly a mistake.

I am sure if the chosen name had been "Salt Creek Slough Park", we would not have had the controversy we have today. Everyone, including the opponents, seem to agree that the presently named Wilderness Park is not a true wilderness. It is however, the closest thing to a wilderness that we have in the immediate area and we do want to preserve it as much as possible.

The decision on the part of the majority of the County Board to approve the crossing of the Wilderness Park by the West Lincoln by-pass and the exchange of land with the State Department of Roads was not a snap decision made without a great deal of thought. The County Board attended countless meetings with those who possess expertise in the fields of environmental degradation, wildlife preservation, and damaging ecological impact. The County Board attended the several public hearings before making their decision to approve the Wilderness Park project. During one of the many meetings, the director of the City Park and Recreation Department pointed out to the County Board that from a professional standpoint, it was wrong to encroach upon any park land, and if his department looked at the picture strictly from the park and open space standpoint, they would have to say "no" to the west by-pass. However, the park director stated that park planners and designers must consider many factors and their relationship to the total population of any one area, the use or users of the land, the economic impact of the program, animal and bird life, water and its use, landscaping, renovation or preservation, encroachments and their impacts on the area and surrounding areas and people, environmental controls and many more.

The Nebraska Game and Parks Commission has assured the County Board that Alternative "G" Crossing of the Wilderness Park would not be one of significance to wildlife, and would have the least potential for environmental degradation.

The Nebraska State Department of Roads has also assured the County Board that all bridges crossing the Wilderness Park will have maximum aesthetic compatibility and will allow both pedestrian and wildlife passage under the structures.

Since the recent controversy over the crossing of the Wilderness Park by the Lincoln by-pass, with the help of the city-county planning director, I have made a complete review of the official records covering all public hearings and other actions related to the selection of the highway corridor in question. Nowhere in the official proceedings of the County Board, City Council or the City-County Planning Commission are there any of what could be considered viable alternative proposals made by those in opposition during the State Department of Roads public hearing on January 3, 1972. We could find no record of anyone's objecting to the crossing of Wilderness Park. On December 18, 1973, the majority of the County Board agreed to cooperate with the State Department of Roads in land exchange required for the alternative selected. There was some opposition during this meeting, but again, the records show no offering of alternative solutions, or documented evidence of adverse environmental impact. The majority of the County Board based their decision of what they considered to be in the best interest of the majority of the citizens in Lancaster County, and not for the benefit of a selected few as was being requested.

In the absence of what the County Board would consider a better alternative or documented evidence given of damaging ecological impact, I am sure the County Board's decision will remain unchanged. However, if further information relating to documented potential adverse impacts and viable (in terms of all impacts, costs and benefits) alternates were offered, the County Board would certainly entertain presentation of this information. It has been pointed out many times that the West Lincoln by-pass is a part of the "big picture". The Lincoln by-passes are a very important part of the proposed state expressway from Beatrice, Nebraska, to South Sioux City, Nebraska, and not just a high speed road for local traffic.

Several days ago, while discussing the Wilderness Park area with Mr. Donald Smith, director of the City of Lincoln Department of Parks and Recreation, Mr. Smith informed me that his department's designing, programming and budgeting at the present time allow no mechanized equipment other than maintenance vehicles in the confines of Wilderness Park and this holds true for the future. Mr. Smith also told me that if present policies are continued in the future, Wilderness Park should remain pretty much as it is today, except for the areas that were farmed in the past. Mr. Smith also stated that present policies and programming call for these areas to revert back to their original beginning. Authorities have estimated the time for this to happen at anywhere from one hundred to two hundred years. So under the master plan, Wilderness Park should become more of a wilderness in the future.

Wilderness Park will be available to the citizens of Lancaster County for many years to come, and will not be destroyed by the Lincoln West by-pass.

Test Of Section 1001

WASHINGTON — The most tyrannous law on the statute books today is Section 1001 of Title 18 of the U S. Code, which makes it a crime for a person to lie to any federal official. (It is not a crime, of course, for a federal official to lie to any person)

While most civil libertarians have shyly averted their gazes, this newly discovered prosecutorial treasure has been used in many Watergate cases; at John Ehrlichman's trial, Judge Gerhard Gesell found Section 1001 so distasteful he said that if it is the only count upon which Ehrlichman is convicted, the conviction would be set aside

Under Section 1001, any citizen — not under oath, not informed of the danger — who as much as looks crosseyed at any petty federal bureaucrat or investigator can be hauled before a grand jury and indicted for an offense that carries a jail term of five years.

Since the best way to repeal a bad law is to insist on its equal application to all those who break it, let us consider a couple of recent probable violations of Section 1001 by eminent guardians of the public trust.

On March 10th of this year, a startling story was filed out of Cleveland by United Press International Reporter Pete Spudich: "No evidence was produced in the Senate Watergate hearings to support impeachment of President Nixon, Watergate Committee Chairman Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N C , said Sunday." The story was based on remarks made to several reporters after a speech at Case Western University, in which Ervin agreed with Nixon that an impeachable offense had to be a federal crime

No evidence to support impeachment, according to Ervin? Even in paraphrase, that was an important judgment, and the senator's surprising exoneration of the President was confirmed by another reporter present, Bud Weidenthal of the Cleveland Press, who wrote that Ervin "also said that he learned nothing during the long Senate investigation that indicated to him that Nixon had committed an impeachable offense."

When panic-stricken aides of Ervin pointed out to him the cold-print accounts of what he had said in Cleveland, the senator realized the magnitude of his gaffe. Although the heavens would not have fallen if he had admitted a mistake, or that he had second thoughts about his statement, he did what most politicians do to cover up a blunder: He claimed he never said it.

On the Senate floor, he told 99 federal officials: "I hereby categorically state that I did not make any such statement . . ." But at least two experienced reporters, writing independent accounts of what he said, reported just the opposite. Somebody was not telling the truth.

If the person not telling the truth were the only one of the three who had any motives for lying, then the august chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee is in violation of Section 1001 and should be prosecuted.

☆ ☆ ☆

Another example: On June 27, House Judiciary Committee Chairman Peter Rodino told Jack Nelson and Paul Huston of the Los Angeles Times, and Sam Donaldson of A.B.C., that he believed all 21 Democratic members of the committee would vote to recommend the President's impeachment.

Since that was a bonebeaded thing for a man trying to strike an impartial pose to say, Chairman Rodino's reaction when he read Nelson's story was predictable. He took to the floor of the House of Representatives and did knowingly and wilfully say to 434 federal officials: "I want to state unequivocally and categorically that this statement is not true. There is no basis in fact for it, none whatsoever."

If what Rodino says is true, three respected Washington newsmen are lying in their teeth and filing false reports to their readers and listeners.

If the only one of the people involved who has a motive to lie has indeed deliberately misled his fellow federal officials, then he is in clear violation of Section 1001, 18 U.S. Code, Maximum penalty five years and $10,000. (One might add that any member of the House aware of his alleged deliberate deceit who does not act upon it is guilty of misprision of a felony, but that would be ridiculous)

☆ ☆ ☆

In both cases — Ervin's prejudgment of Nixon as innocent and Rodino's prejudgment of him as guilty — the main focus was on the news in the prejudgments, and not on the matter that goes to the heart of Watergate: the apparent willingness of politicians, when caught in embarrassing situations to cover up their blunders with obvious "categorical" lies.

We had best rid ourselves of Section 1001 before we are forced into the irony of prosecuting those who lie to cover up their blunders as they pursue those who lied to cover up their blunders. After all, no men — not even chairmen — should be "above the law."

Missing Part

JACK ANDERSON

Military Madness

WASHINGTON — Rather than question a Defense Department directive, the brass hats have destroyed millions worth of surplus equipment that was good as new.

The directive was issued in 1970 to keep surplus weapons from falling into the hands of terrorists. But the obedient brass, with appalling lack of judgment, have been scrapping surplus parts which don't have the remotes combat use.

Several sources, who are directly involved in demilitarizing the surplus stocks, have given us an incredible account of wholesale destruction, including such innocuous items as doors, wheels, tires and even paper cups.

Yet the terrorists, in the meantime, have had little hindrance getting weapons, sometimes stealing them right out of U.S. arsenals. Other resourceful terrorists have fashioned makeshift weapons such as flame-throwers from aerosol cans and bombs from the cardboard centers of toilet paper rolls.

☆ ☆ ☆

Many of the parts which have been destroyed have had to be replaced with new parts from the factories at costs anywhere from 50 to 300% above the surplus value.

My reporter, Ed Tropeano, checked into dozens of silly destruction orders. Here are just a few examples:

— The F-4 fighter is still one of the most widely used planes in the Air Force. Yet surplus parts, including wheels, tires and fuel attachments, are being destroyed daily despite the fact that replacements are constantly in demand.

— Hill Air Force Base, Utah, placed an order for 257 fuel tank noses of the same type that had been destroyed in the base's salvage yard. Had these fixtures been spared, it would have saved the taxpayers more than $18,000.

— Engine access doors, which are in constant demand by the military, have been destroyed at the same time new doors were ordered from the plant at $1,000 per replacement.

— Incredibly, 250,000 paper cups were destroyed, according to competent sources, because they had been intended for use in fighter jets.

— At least one 60-foot trackbed was destroyed because it had been used to haul tanks.

— A SZF, a Navy aircraft, is considered combat worthy, so its surplus parts are smashed into junk. Yet these planes are being used to fight brush fires. Without surplus parts, the planes will soon be grounded. Planes used in agricultural spraying and dusting also depend heavily on surplus military parts.

Funds Ready For Murder Information

By The Associated Press

Authorities in Lancaster County have announced a fund of several thousand dollars to pay for any new information, no matter how insignificant it may seem, that can help in solving the Patricia Webb murder case.

Miss Webb, 24, was a one-time narcotics informant for the State Patrol. She was killed last April 19. Her body was discovered the following day on a farm about 20 miles south of Lincoln. She had been shot 11 times with two different weapons.

Lancaster County Atty. Paul Douglas said, "We have available several thousand dollars that we're prepared to pay for information that will be of some assistance to law enforcement officers concerning the death of Patricia Webb. It's not a reward but will be spent for information furnished the law enforcement officers that may be of assistance to us in solving this murder. I'm not revealing the amount of the money we have available or where the money was obtained."

Douglas stressed that the money would be used to pay for any information, not just upon arrest and conviction.

He said, "The amount that we will pay for the information will depend on the value of the information that we receive. And all the information that we will receive will be kept on a confidential basis if that's the desire of the person furnishing the information. The information, of course, can be given to any law enforcement officer in Lancaster County or by mailing a letter to the Post Office box 80041."

Douglas said law officers would especially like to talk with the two men who are believed to be the last to have seen Miss Webb alive about 1 a.m. April 19 in the Adult Bookstore in Lincoln, where she was employed.

Meat Inquiry Help Sought

By United Press International

Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln said Friday he plans to ask the Judiciary Committee to help get Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer involved in the prosecution and investigation of alleged chain store price fixing on meat.

"I believe the attorney general has the obligation to protect Nebraska cattle and hog producers using the power and resources of the attorney general's office," Barnett said.

Especially, the Senator said, in view of a law passed this year which established an antitrust division in the attorney general's office.

Barnett said he is suggesting in particular that the attorney general become involved in a $1.5 billion lawsuit filed by Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood against Safeway and A & P stores. Sen. John DeCamp of Neligh was one of the filing attorneys.

RAF 'Jaguar' Bomber

Britain's Royal Air Force (RAF) "Jaguar" jet fighter, a high-performance, strike/attack and reconnaissance aircraft, made its first appearance on American soil at Offutt Air Force Base, Bellevue. Built by British Aircraft Corp. and Avions Marcel Dassault/Breguet Aviation for low-level, high-speed bombing, the Anglo-French fighter can carry up to 10,000 pounds of weapons. The twin-engine jet is considered highly reliable and survivable. It has been in RAF service since June 5.

Carrier Head Says Drivers Resting Less

By The Associated Press

Jim Preston of Lincoln, managing director of the Nebraska Motor Carriers Association, says truck drivers are spending less time in rest areas and truck stops because of the federally imposed 55 mile per hour speed limit.

Preston said the federal maximums are particularly difficult for the trucking industry to contend with.

At the lower speeds, Preston said the truckers have trouble making the tops of hills, and the longer hills cannot be peaked without backing up traffic.

Preston said those making a living at trucking are probably not losing a lot of money, but he added they are not making the same profits they used to.

Making Up Losses

He said the profit losses are being made up by drivers "spending less time in rest areas and truck stops."

Preston said the limits are not being strictly enforced.

"This is readily apparent on the highways. The public seems to set its own limit," Preston said.

Preston added that in his travels, he estimated most drivers were averaging in the lower 60s.

Preston also said authorities have difficulties enforcing the new limits because the majority of the people are ignoring them.

'Like To See 60'

"We should possibly remain at a lower level than the preshortage days, but we (the truckers) would like to see it around a 60 level," Preston said.

However, Preston noted that the truckers would never favor going back to the old 75 m.p.h. limits on the interstates.

Highway fatalities have dropped since the inception of the lower speed limits, but Preston said he did not attribute the entire drop in the death rate to the lower speeds. He said part of the trend might be attributed to the increasing effectiveness of the National Safety Council campaigns.

North Bend Farmer Sells Hogs For Campaign Gift

A North Bend farmer has gone whole hog for Hess Dyas. Bob Abraham sold two hogs this week for $185.54 and gave the proceeds to Dyas to use in his campaign for the First Congressional District seat.

Abraham pledged last March to give the Democratic candidate two hogs at market time.

"It was a very meaningful contribution," Dyas said. "The pledge of two hogs put me and the campaign in the same position as the farmers. A good market price meant a larger contribution than a poor market price."

In his campaigning, Dyas has told farmers he has an "investment" in farm sales.

"I get the feeling they enjoyed seeing a person running for public office who shares their concerns and problems," he said. "It certainly brought home to me a lot about the unstabilized and downturned farm situation."

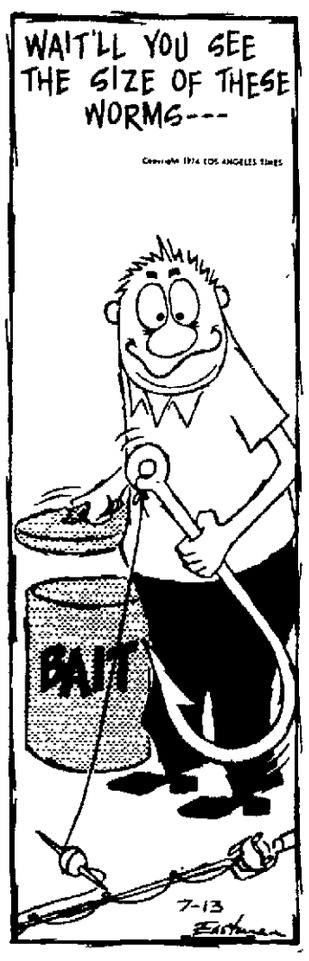

Dyas said he has been concentrating on farm policy lately in the campaign because "Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and his supporters have done nothing to ease the crisis they created."

Dyas has called for Butz's resignation, and has said he should be replaced by an "actual farmer."

He said Abraham's pledge of the hogs also made the point that "farmer and city dweller alike are being hounded by the economy."

"We need some strong, new and bold leadership to deal with these economically unstable times," he added.

CARMICHAEL

Meet Star Carrier Mike Jensby

Twelve-year-old Mike Jensby of Fairbury is busy juggling two separate newspaper careers. Besides being a carrier salesman for The Lincoln Star, he also is a weather and news reporter for his school's paper.

Mike feels that managing a paper route is an excellent way to earn money and to learn efficiency and thrift while his customers are pleased with the consistently good service he provides.

You don't have to be a scientist to realize that these tons of rock are held in check by perfect balance. You wouldn't want to be sitting nearby if they weren't!

This kind of balance results in inertia. There is another state of being that results in sound initiative and worthwhile action.

You've heard men speak of a balanced background, a balanced education, a balanced life. They're usually referring to the fact that no important element has been ignored or neglected.

Religious sincerity is one necessity for this kind of balance. It cannot take the place of any of the other essentials. Nor can anything else take its place.

The Church is constantly helping us gain—and keep—our balance!

In keeping with current fashions, this cotton smock top, worn over textured green pants, features short, gathered sleeves and inset, striped bib.

This long sleeved, patchwork top and denim pants are ideal for those cooling fall days.

Julie Sandstedt models this soft, feminine dress, which features a convertible waistband.

Be In Style While You Wait

By GRACIA McANDREWS
Star Staff Writer

No longer do maternity clothes have to be matronly and unbecoming, say local maternity fashion experts.

In fact, designers for these ladies-in-waiting, are keeping in step with the top fashions of today, creating maternity apparel which often can be worn after the baby has arrived.

"It is sad that fashions for the pregnant woman have been ignored for so long," said July Sandstedt, manager of Lady Madonna Boutique. "Young couples are now planning their families, so pregnancy is a very beautiful time for a woman. She should feel beautiful and look beautiful too."

"Basically, women are looking for clothes that don't look terribly 'maternityish'," added Marty Voight of Motherhood Maternity. "First they're looking for the tie-back style.

"This summer the smock tops and halter tops have been popular. We have had several long halter dresses.

"The companies are trying to keep up with the current styles," she continued, "and they really do a good job."

"Designers are trying to keep pregnant women in the same fashion line of their flat-tummied sisters," Ms. Sandstedt agreed. "They like to stay with the trends so women in maternity fashions don't feel outcast.

"For fall there is a more sophisticated and polished look," she noted. "They are going away from the weird and bizarre look.

"Natural colors such as greens and maroon will be important and there will be a lot of tweed.

"Also we will see the return of the dress with hems 3 to 4 inches below the knee," she said, adding, "They have tried to make the dress a trend, but I don't think that the classic pant will ever go out.

"Pants are just more practical, especially where it is so cold in the winter.

"There will be a lot of layering again," she predicted, "although it will not be as drastic as it was.

"Sweaters will be important for fall and, in particular, the wrap-sweater, because it is so versatile.

"Also, because the maternity fashions will be more sophisticated, women can wear them in the next pregnancy without looking like they came from the 1960's."

Ms. Sandstedt also emphasized the use of accessories in conjunction with careful selection of clothing items.

"When women are pregnant, they don't have a lot of money to buy a jillion outfits," she said, "so accessories are very important as far as maternity clothes are concerned.

"By using a scarf, an outfit can be made to look dressy — a hat will make it look sporty."

In addition, she reiterated that many of the items can be worn after the birth. "Shirts can be tucked in, and, often, long dresses have convertible waistbands."

"We are trying to help the pregnant woman continue living as she has been living," she concluded, "not to hibernate because she is pregnant."

This attractive maternity ensemble also can be worn after the new baby arrives.

Worn over white polyester slacks, this sleeveless, gingham top looks cool, crisp and just right for summer weather.

With tie straps and shirred bodice, this gingham dress is great in 100° temperatures.

Ready for fall, Marlene Witt models this outfit of 100% arcylic.

A Lawyer Would Know

DEAR ABBY: I have been living common law with a man for 12 years. He pays all the bills and we are just like man and wife. Our kids call him "Daddy" (we have eight).

I just found out by accident that he is also "Daddy" to seven other kids, and has been living common-law with another woman 90 miles from here.

For years he has left here on Monday morning and come home on Thursday evening. If I can prove that he spends more time with me than he spends with the other woman, is he my common-law husband, or is he hers? Can a common-law husband be a bigamist? And where would it leave me if he fell over dead? Thank you.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: It would leave you with a lot of questions that only a lawyer could answer. Why don't you see one now? It's a lot easier to get information out of a live common-law husband than a dead one.

DEAR ABBY: I was surprised to learn from your column that a 19-year-old patient can report her psychiatrist to the ethics committee of the local county medical society and/or psychiatric society if he betrays her confidence — even to her parents.

What about underage adolescents? Don't you think parents have a right to know what's going on in the minds of their children? CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Most psychiatrists try to be extremely protective of an adolescent's confidences, but if an adolescent is involved in some serious antisocial or illegal behavior, the psychiatrist may have to disclose some confidential information for the protection of the patient and his parents from the consequences of such actions.

There is an increasing trend toward family therapy in which the adolescent and his parents are treated together, so the issue of confidentiality does not even arise.

Stocks Soar In Dramatic Turnaround

New York (AP) — The stock market scored one of its strongest gains on record Friday, in a dramatic turnaround from its recent sharp decline.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials surged 27.61 points to 787.23, its biggest advance since May 24 of last year and its sixth largest ever.

Gainers outnumbered losers by one of the widest margins in recent memory on the New York Stock Exchange —1,364 to 192 among the 1,818 issues traded.

The Big Board's composite index posted an equally emphatic 1.74 rise to 43.36. Investors, starved for encouragement for several weeks, suddenly found themselves confronted with a steady stream of favorable news.

"After the declines we have had in the last few weeks, the market was ready for an explosive rally," said Robert Stovall at Reynolds Securities.

"Just one bit of good news might have been enough, but instead we had five or six."

Analysts' list of encouraging developments included:

— Weekly banking figures released by the Federal Reserve after Thursday's close, showing the smallest increase in loan demand in five weeks.

— The decision Friday morning by New York's First National City Bank to hold its prime lending rate unchanged at 12 per cent, although its formula for computing the key rate called for an increase to 12½.

— Citibank economists' prediction that the rate of inflation would ease to 6 per cent by yearend.

— The government's report that wholesale prices rose in June at their slowest rate in nine months.

— IBM's report of second-quarter earnings, a 34 per cent gain that exceeded many analysts' expectations.

IBM shares soared 16¼ points to 215, leading a broad rally in glamour issues. Digital Equipment was up 6¾ at 101¾; Burroughs, 5 at 93⅞; Upjohn, 4¼ at 77¼; Texas Instruments, 5⅛ to 89¼; and Xerox 5⅝ to 107¼.

Halliburton climbed 6⅛ to 138¼ in a strong rise among oil service issues.

Among other strong performers were some interest-sensitive issues which have encountered pronounced losses lately.

MGIC Investment, for example, rebounded 3 to 13¾; CMI Investment 2⅜ to 13; First Mortgage Investors 5 to 3, and Gulf Mortgage & Realty 1 to 6¾.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose 2.05 to 76.67 with Syntex, up 3⅜ at 42⅜, heading the active list.

The NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market gained 2.03 to 71.68.

Commodities Rise To Limits

Chicago (AP) — Farm commodity futures rose to limits for one session on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday after a bullish Agriculture Department report, but wheat, corn and oats retreated before the close.

The limit gains included 20 cents a bushel in wheat and soybeans, 10 cents in corn, 6 cents in oats, 100 points in soybean oil and $10 a ton in meal.

'Relaxed' Bahensky Wins City Golf Title

By RANDY EICKHOFF
Star Sports Writer

It was a relaxed Dan Bahensky who stepped to the first tee at the Lincoln Country Club for the final round of the Men's City Golf Championship. He held a seven-stroke lead over Steve Harris and, unless the gods dictated otherwise, knew that he would win the crown.

The dreaded "halls" of the Country Club where the fairways are heavily towering cottonwoods, evergreens and Russian olives, took their toll, as Bahensky played two-under par to win the tournament by 14 strokes over Steve Harris and Doug Smith, finishing in a tie for second. Harris won the playoff for runnerup honors on the first extra hole.

But it wasn't until the No. 16 that he found out he had a shot at the tournament record of 282 set by Larry Romjue — five-under-par. He was four-under at the time.

He lipped out a putt on the 16th then dropped in a curling 25-footer on No. 17 to tie the record. On his next-to-last putt on No. 18, he left the ball one inch from the cup — the difference that would have broken the record.

With one brief exception — the second day at Pioneers, Bahensky had led the field. But, oddly enough, even though he shot his worse score on that course, he claims he was hitting the ball the best during that round.

"I wasn't scoring," he amended, "but I think I was striking the ball the best on that round. The rest of the time, I've been having a little trouble.

"No, I didn't know I was that close to the tournament record until Rick Reynolds told me on No. 16," he said. "After I knew that, I started bearing down on my putts a little more."

Bahensky gave it one more ride on No. 18 when he played a gamble and hit his approach shot right at the pin tucked neatly in a bottleneck right behind a sand-trap. He left himself with about a 12-foot putt, but missed that and had to settle for a par on that hole.

"I completely misread that shot," Bahensky, who won the title in 1972, said. "I played the shot just the way I wanted to, but the ball crossed in front of the cup. I read for a three-inch break and it broke about five inches.

"I played the approach right for that lie also," he said. "I choked down about an inch on my shaft and swung to about 11 o'clock on my backswing, concentrating on an area about the size of a washtub 80 yards away. That would give me enough room for it to run to the pin.

"I just missed the spot because I didn't hit the ball quite hard enough," he explained. "A little harder and it might have carried."

Larry Rowan fired a six-over 78 in the senior division to win that title with a 309 total and snap Ed Smith's bid for a repeat win. Smith finished second with a 77 for a 312 while Curly Piontek was third at 318.

Opstein Eyes Sweep With Destroyer In Finale

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — Ken Opstein is persistent.

Denied by a slim nose margin last year in his bid to sweep Ak-Sar-Ben's two major races for 3-year-olds, the South Sioux City life insurance executive tries again for that elusive double triumph.

He has his colt, Destroyer, entered for the $50,000-added President's Cup here Saturday at Ak-Sar-Ben as the most successful meet in the track's history concludes its 55-day run.

Destroyer prevailed in the $80,150 Omaha Gold Cup Stakes here two weeks ago, downing Chicago invader Sharp Gary by a neck in that mile and one-sixteenth race. That was the first of the two major stakes races at Ak-Sar-Ben for sophomore runners.

Only four horses have previously swept major Omaha races, so the Opstein runner will join some exclusive company if he can defeat 10 foes in Saturday's mile and one-eighth President's Cup.

R. D. and C. M. Beren's Single Needle won the Cornhusker and Governors' Handicaps in 1967 (the major races for older horses) and the M. H. Van Berg Stable and Joe Adcock's Joey Bob performed an identical feat in 1972.

Bart Ford's Foreign Comet won the Omaha and President's Cups in 1968 and the M. H. Van Berg Stable's Joey Bob did the same in 1972.

It appeared as if Opstein might score his sweep last year with Royal Knight. That standout won the Gold Cup by three lengths, then as the top-weighted (129 pounds) 4-5 favorite on closing day last year, he lost by only a nose to Crimson Falcon in his attempt to gain the President's Cup.

So Opstein can't help but maintain an aura of cautiousness in his effort to win sweep the 3-year-old's major Omaha contests.

Can Destroyer handle his top-weight assignment of 127 pounds?

"Sure he can, he's big enough to carry me," joked handicapper-racing secretary John Maluvius, who made the weight assignments.

Destroyer, however, must concede from nine to 18 pounds to his 10 rivals, including a three-horse Shinrone-Farm-owned and Jack Van Berg-trained entry.

If the track is fast (Destroyer can't handle an off-track), then he undoubtedly will rule the favorite.

A winner of $139,432 this year on two triumphs and three thirds in 11 outings, Destroyer will again be ridden by nationally-known jockey Milo Valenzuela, who has handled the son of Vitriolic in his last six races this year.

He rode him to a win in the $130,200 Santa Anita Derby, a sixth in the Kentucky Derby, an eleventh in the Preakness and his win in the Gold Cup.

Second top-weight is the Diamond Stable Ltd's Port of the Sea, who finished third in the Gold Cup — beaten four lengths by Destroyer and Sharp Gary. He will carry 118 pounds, including familiar rider Gary DeJong.

The gelding has scored one victory and three thirds this year in six appearances.

Two Chicago invaders and one-third of the Shinrone Farm's trio comprise the next two weight assignments.

J. M. Gerbas and R. E. Schleicher's Holding Pattern, one of the country's top 2-year-olds last season, will tote 117 pounds. He earned $100,000 last season, but has only started twice this season, capturing an allowance race before finishing sixth in the Secretariat Stakes at Arlington Park.

Sharing 116 pounds will be Shinrone Farm's Rambunctious Road and the Hasty House Farm's Hasty Flyer, a Chicago invader.

Rambunctious has won two Omaha stakes this season — the Breeder's Sprint Stakes over 6-furlongs on June 1 and the mile and 70-yard Marion Van Berg Stakes on July 4.

Hasty Flyer has earned more than $100,000 in his career.

The other entrants in the Van Berg-trained trio are Operating, a filly who won the 4-H Handicap here on June 15 over a mile and 70-yards and Joni's Dancer, who probably will be the pacesetter as she tries for her fifth consecutive victory.

Operating will carry 113 pounds, including Dan Whited while Joni's Dancer gets in with co-low-weight of 109. No rider was listed.

Other entrants and their weights include M. Boneau's Stapleton's Pet, 113 and John Lively; Paul Jones' Foreign Intent, 112 and Fred Ecoffey; K. Simon's Ogan, 110 and Rodolfo Calderon and Robert Colvin's Rosedale Boy, 109 and L. J. Durousseau.

The President's Cup will be the eighth race on the 10-race program.

New Negotiations Fail To Produce Progress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators for striking National Football League players and the league's 26 teams met for seven hours with federal mediators Friday and failed to make any particular progress toward resolving their very wide dispute, officials said.

Federal mediator James Scearce said no date was set for resumption of the talks, which are designed to end the 12-day strike by the NFL Players' Association, the 1,200-member union of veteran players.

But Scearce, who said no particular progress was made, said he was "encouraged by the constructive attitude on both sides." He said he asked both parties to "reconsider and re-evaluate their positions."

Scearce said he was reassessing the negotiations and would be in contact with the owners and the players early next week in hopes of reconvening the negotiations.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the players' union, which has pledged to wipe out the NFL exhibition season if its walkout is not resolved, said he concurred in Scearce's statement and characterized the day-long session as "no progress."

John Thompson, executive director of the NFL Management Council, the owners' bargaining agent, said he accepted Scearce's evaluation of the meeting. Asked if he also would say there was no progress, Thompson replied: "We're not saying that."

Sources said the two sides in the dispute met face-to-face for less than an hour Friday, and that they spent most of their time in separate rooms, with mediators talking first to one side and then the other. The sources said the two sides met together briefly in the morning and then again just before adjourning for the day.

They also said both sides had agreed to a request from Scearce that they quit trading charges and accusations, a move apparently intended to produce a better negotiating atmosphere.

Johnny's Earns Tourney Win

GENOA, Neb. (AP)—A 16-strikeout performance by Lincoln Johnny's Larry Able led them past the Beatrice Bruins Friday night in the state semi-pro baseball tournament here.

Pat Elgert held Johnny's to three hits, but two costly errors in the seventh and ninth innings provided the margin for the Lincoln team.

Bruce Cramer of Beatrice had three singles in a losing cause.

Player Sees Pressure From Charging Nicklaus

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus moved into a challenging position Friday for his third British Open Golf Championship when he made up five strokes on a faltering Gary Player, who stumbled in with a four-over-par 75 for a 54-hole total of 212 and a three-stroke lead.

Nicklaus, nine shots off the pace at the start of the day, carded a 32-38-70, one of only three sub-par rounds over the 6,822-yard, par 71, Royal Lytham Links which again defied a field of the world's greatest players despite almost perfect playing conditions.

Player leads Britain's Peter Oosterhuis, who shot 73 in partnership with the South African for 215, while Nicklaus is alone at 216.

Nicklaus said, "Anything can happen from here," but he was disappointed with his finish when he lost two strokes in four holes. "I'm sad that I made up distance between Gary (Player) and myself and then lost it."

Nicklaus, who won the championship in 1966 at Muirfield and in 1970 at St. Andrews, looked to be making one of his patented charges when he turned in 32, but once again Royal Lytham's back nine refused to yield and he dropped two strokes to par.

Nicklaus said, "Gary caught me from nine back at Palm Springs in 1963 and I was thinking last night there was no reason why I couldn't do the same here.

"I'm hitting the ball better now than at any time this year."

Nicklaus' only tour victory this year came at Hawaii, but Friday he played more like the championship favorite.

Jack made a bogey at the fifth, but then he reeled off two birdies and an eagle. He hit a 330-yard drive at the 551-yard seventh, put a four-iron to within 25-feet of the cup and holed the putt.

Coming home Nicklaus bogeyed the 11th, got the stroke back at the 13th, but struck disaster when he doubled bogeyed the 15th and bogeyed the 16th. He kept his cool to get a birdie on No. 17 and finished in par to great cheers from the gallery.

Nicklaus canned putts of five to 22-feet on his birdie holes.

Robinson Holds Edge As Third Outfielder

NEW YORK (AP) — California's Frank Robinson has a slight edge on three other outfielders for the No. 3 spot in the starting line-up for the American League in the July 23 All-Star Game, but the ballots are still being counted.

Robinson, with 764,803 votes, trails Reggie Jackson and Bobby Murcer, but with the results of voting by baseball fans across the country still incomplete, Detroit's Al Kaline, Oakland's Joe Rudi and Texas' Jeff Burroughs can't be counted out.

Kaline has 757,448 votes, Rudi 726,603 and Burroughs 696,426, the commissioner's office announced Friday.

Jackson, the A's slugging outfielder, ran away with over-all honors in the AL balloting with 2,085,192 votes, the first player to surpass the two-million mark. New York's Murcer is second in the outfield race with 833,783.

Boston's Carlton Fisk, hobbled by a knee injury, leads the catchers with 972,816 votes, followed by New York's Thurman Munson with 666,451.

Angels Bomb Boston; Yankees Topple A's

By The Associated Press

For Dick Williams, the long wait is finally over.

The California Angels snapped an 11-game losing streak, longest in the club's history, and gave Williams his first victory as Angels manager after 10 losses Friday night, defeating the Boston Red Sox 7-0 as rookie pitcher Ed Figueroa scattered 10 hits.

Home runs by Frank Robinson and Winston Llenas helped support Figuroa's pitching. For Robinson, it was his 12th homer of the season and 564th of his career.

Elsewhere in the American League, Pat Dobson fired a two-hitter and struck out seven, pitching the New York Yankees to a 3-0 triumph over the Oakland A's. Lou Piniella, Roy White and Bobby Murcer drove in the runs as the Yankees extended their winning streak to five games, their longest of the season.

Jim Fregosi's run-scoring single capped a three-run first inning and then Jeff Burroughs belted his 15th homer of the year, helping the Texas Rangers to a 4-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Steve Busby notched his 12th victory against eight losses by scattering 10 hits as the Kansas City Royals stopped the Detroit Tigers 7-2.

Charlie Spikes drove in three runs with a single, double, home run and sacrifice fly, pacing a 15-hit Cleveland barrage that carried the Indians to a 9-5 victory over the Minnesota Twins, snapping Cleveland's three-game losing streak and Minnesota's five-game winning streak.

Ed Herrmann cracked a run-scoring double with two out on the ninth, lifting the Chicago White Sox to a 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. With two out, Bill Sharp walked and Herrmann came through with his game-winning hit.

In the National League, Lee May hit a solo homer and a bases-clearing double, powering the Houston Astros to a 9-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Don Gullett pitched a five-hitter in the opener and rookie Tom Carroll teamed with Clay Carroll on an eight-hitter in the nightcap as the Cincinnati Reds swept a twi-night double header from the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-0 and 4-3.

Three runs in the eighth inning and two in the ninth carried the Atlanta Braves to a 7-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the opener of their twi-night double header, but Cards rookie Bob Forsch pitched a four-hitter and rode a nine-run first inning to a 10-0 romp over the Braves in the second game.

Lincoln Trio Win In Meet

Beatrice — Three Lincoln teams won in the first round here Friday in the A.S.A. High School Girls District 8 Softball Tournament.

Jan Crouch for Roberts, Shari Stone for Swinger's and Pam Koontz for Georgette Caddy for Gerry's hit home runs for Lincoln teams.

The tournament will run Saturday and conclude Sunday.

Friday's results:

Beatrice Dairy Queen 20, Lincoln Gateway Realty 5, Tecumseh 6, Lincoln Havelock Bank 5 (8 innings); Lincoln Roberts 18, Beatrice Store Kraft 3; Norris 16, Humboldt 3; Lincoln Swinger's 19; Blue Springs 2; Lincoln Gerry's 13, Odell 3, Falls City 23, Barneston 6.

Players To Help Charities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Football League Players Association said today it has raised $65,000 which it will contribute to the charities that were to benefit from the cancelled College All-Star Game.

Bill Curry, president of the players union, said the donations have come from "friends of the asssociation," other labor organizations and NFL players.

Had the July 26 game between the All-Stars and the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins been played, it would have raised about $212,000 for the Chicago-area charities.

Curry said the players association felt it should assume half of that and "we intend to fulfill or responsibility" in raising $106,000.

There have been no reports thus far of plans by the NFL's 26 team owners to contribute to the charities.

Curry declined to name the contributing organizations because, he said, he did not have clearance to do so.

5 Killed In Road Accidents

By The Associated Press

Five persons died Friday from highway accidents. The latest accident, killing an Albion teenager and his nephew, raised Nebraska's 1974 traffic toll to 191, compared with 206 on July 13 last year.

Boone County Sheriff Richard Johnson said Donnie Otto, 18, the son of Alfred Otto Sr., of Albion, and William Otto, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Otto, also Albion, were killed when the tractor they were riding was struck by a semi-trailer truck on Highway 91.

The mishap occurred about 10:30 a.m. some nine miles west of Albion.

Johnson identified the driver of the truck as Edwin Swerczek, of Cedar Rapids. Swerczek was not injured.

Johnson said the accident was under investigation, and other details were not immediately released.

One-Car Crash

Rock County officials said an Ainsworth man died early Friday in a one-vehicle crash on Highway 20 about 1.2 miles west of Bassett.

The victim was identified as Jerry C. Thomas, 34.

Investigators said Thomas apparently went off the right side of the road, lost control while attempting to get his sport vehicle back on the road, hit the left-side shoulder and flipped.

A car-truck mishap Thursday on highway 83 just south of McCook took the life of Ruby Montgomery, 66, of Oberlin, Kan.

Struck Semi

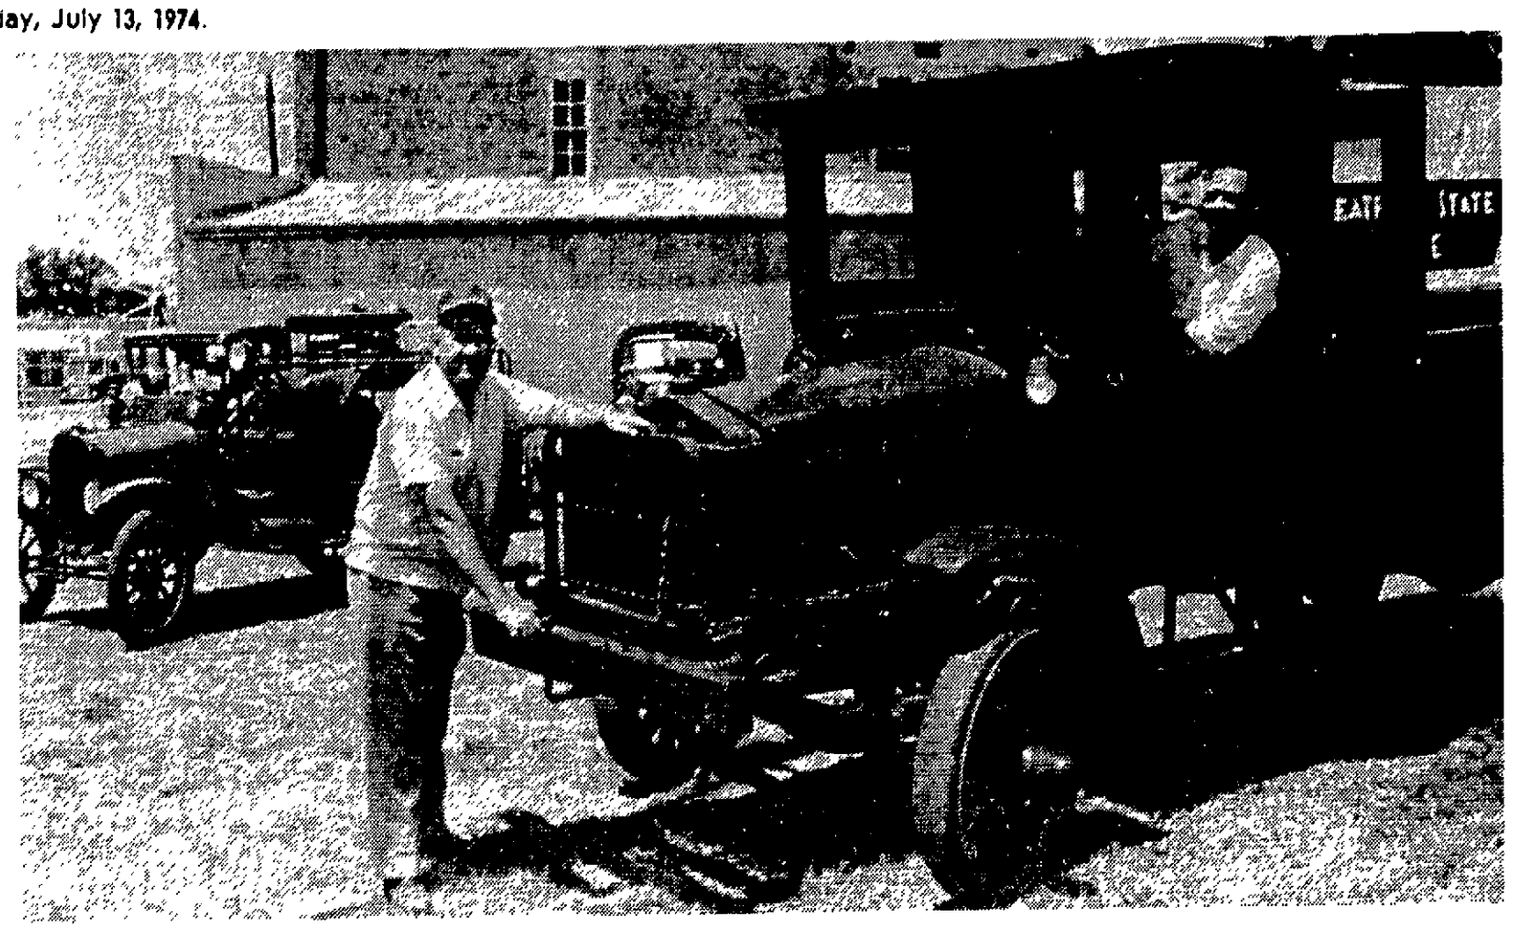

Mrs. Montgomery was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Lewis, 75. The Montgomery car struck the rear of a semi-trailer truck driven by Wayne Hardin of Oshkosh, the State Patrol reported.

Another two-vehicle crash resulted in the death of Gordon Wilke, 47, of Columbus.

He died in a Lincoln hospital Thursday night of injuries sustained when a bread truck he was driving crashed into a gravel truck which had stopped for a flagman at a construction site.

The mishap occurred on Highway 81, 11 miles south of Columbus Thursday afternoon. State Patrol authorities said Wilke's vision was apparently obscured by dust from the construction site and he failed to notice that the gravel truck had stopped.

The driver of the gravel truck, 60-year-old Carl Holm of Wolbach, was not injured.

Restored Truck Catches Eyes At Diller Picnic

Though it dates back more than half a century, this 1918 Liberty army truck had its biggest moments ever Friday at the Diller picnic. In use as a boom truck at the Beatrice State Home as recently as 1956, the old vehicle was restored under the eyes of Bob Dotson (at the crank) and Dale Milke, engineers at the institution. The four-cylinder, solid-tire truck made its modern debut at Diller's antique auto show, then took part in a spectacular evening parade. The 78th annual picnic continues through Saturday night. (Star Photo)

Barnett: Raise 9% Usury Limit

By BOB GUENTHER
Star Staff Writer

State Sen. Wally Barnett of Lincoln said Friday he favors a special session of the Legislature to ease the crunch in the home loan market by raising the 9% lid on the usury rate.

During an interview, Barnett made no suggestion as to what the new lid should be, but he said unless action is taken the consequences could be "disastrous" for Nebraska's economy.

"I have talked to people in the business who tell me we are at a standstill," he said.

Requires Attention

Unlike the proposals to call a special session to deal with the technical colleges' money problems and to cut the state sales tax, Barnett said the situation in the home loan market is sufficient to warrant legislators' quick attention.

Barnett said he suggested calling a special session to Gov. J. James Exon in a letter, as have the Nebraska Mortgage Association and the Omaha Home Builders Association.

Unconfirmed reports indicate there may be as many as 200 unsold new homes in Lincoln and 1,000 in Omaha.

Paul Quinlan, director of the Nebraska Real Estate Commission, said information reaching him indicates mortgage loans are scarce because the financiers are moving building and loan mortgage money into other investments with higher yields.

Decision Not Made

Norm Otto, an Exon aide, said the governor has received requests for a special session to deal with the usury lid. As yet, he said Exon has made no decision on the issue.

In a July 2 letter to Exon, Gerald L. Holscher, president of the Nebraska Mortgage Association, wrote: "Nebraska lenders are encountering a situation whereas their money costs warrant the charging of loan rates above the 9% state usury limit.

"Needless to say, this situation has curbed lending and has prevented lenders from other states (from) investing in Nebraska real estate."

Market 'Dried Up'

A spokesman for the State Banking Department said the 9% lid has virtually "dried up" the money market in real estate loans.

He indicated there are still certain federal loans for new homes but for existing houses there are "almost no loans."

Skeptics interviewed about the need for a special session to adjust lid questioned whether people could afford the loans at the higher rates. They also questioned whether with continually raising interest rates a new ceiling would again be too low within a few months.

Bill Failed

It was also noted that a bill, LB851, was introduced to raise the 9% usury ceiling during the last session of the Legislature. That bill failed to attract sufficient support.

Quinlan said, however, his information indicates there would be an "adequate market" for higher interest loans.

Barnett said a special session to raise the ceiling would "make a lot of people happy."

Lifelong Dream Fulfilled—

Biology Teacher Quits To Deliver Mail

Chadron (UPI) — Why would a veteran college biology teacher give up her position to take a job as a rural mailwoman?

To watch birds? County pheasants? Keep track of deer?

Precisely, says Doris Gates. She is fulfilling a lifelong hankering for a mail route of her own to make the most of her love for the outdoors.

Although her action came as a shock to friends and students after 34 years of teaching, the last 19 of it at Chadron State College, it was something she had had in the back of her mind since she was a college student herself.

Wanted Own Route

She sometimes made the rounds with a cousin who was a mail carrier near Stella, she said, and always carried the notion that she would like to have a route of her own.

This year, she signed a four-year contract with Uncle Sam to take over an 82-mile route south of here through the Pine Ridge country winding along such colorful trails as Deadhorse Road.

There will be 250 patrons on the route, which amounts to a lot of new names to memorize.

"I'm sure I'll be earning my money," said Miss Gates. "But I wanted to be outdoors more and try something new."

She does not plan to abandon any of her interests in biology, however.

Consultation Available

She said she wanted to be consulted by other science teachers, and plans to continue writing a nature column for the Chadron Weekly Record. She will certainly continue watching birds, flowers and animals.

"I'd like to have the people continue calling me when they've got a question or something interesting they'd like me to look at," she said.

Miss Gates isn't overly worried about having time to learn the names of her mail patrons.

She already knows, she believes, every bird, animal and plant type in western Nebraska.

As for the rest, she said, "I'll worry about bad weather, car trouble and stuff like that when they get here."

Sultry Summer Eve 'Nice' For Musical

By GORDON WINTERS
Star Staff Writer

Ahhhhh. Let's see now.

Well, first off, I was a little early for the Pinewood Bowl staging of "Sweet Charity". So after I got out of the lousy car I took a slow stroll through the trees.

The next thing, after I sat down, I took off my shoes.

Then I took off my shirt.

Ahhhhh.

This is a nice place, this Pinewood Bowl. Tiered benches are surrounded by these tired pines that look like they're kinda taking it easy after another 100-plus day.

I'm kinda taking it easy too. This event has that effect.

Let me tell right off, I think the majority of musicals ought to be silent. (Groan on, brother).

But this event is no ordinary musical. This is novel. This is extraordinary. This is simple fun.

Live, lively intertainment on a hot summer's night. Cooling evening air. Birds flying. People lying on the grass. Senior citizens in lawn chairs. Children running around.

You don't have to pay anything at all for this if you don't have it.

Sweet Charity is a musical about this broad that gets exploited by a number of males. You probably know something about that no matter what you've been doing.

Lots of music and dancing.

I'll bet a lot of people put a lot of work into this. People like director Jan Healey, musical director Carl Martens, choreographer Karen McWilliams, Lynda Videtich (Charity) and all the other players and musicians.

If I were you I'd go. The show starts at 8:30 p.m. and runs Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

I don't think its going to rain.

Another Local Record Set For Use Of Electricity

While temperatures continued to hover near 100, Lincoln residents set another record for peak electricity usage Friday.

The hourly peak average use of 329,000 kilowatt hours (kwh) occurred between 4 and 5 p.m. Friday, a Lincoln Electric System spokesman said.

This is the sixth time since June 19 and the third time in five days that a new record has been set, according to the LES spokesman. The previous record, 325,000 kwh, was set Tuesday.

Friday's high compared with a peak of 322,880 kwh for Thursday, set between 5 and 6 p.m.

Hot weather, the spokesman said, is the only cause for the increased usage. He said it was unusual for a record to be set on a Friday, "because things are usually winding down for the week."

No Difficulties

He added that LES had been fortunate this summer because there had been no serious mechanical difficulties. Storms which would have prevented power restoration also have been scarce, he said.

Because of these advantages, LES has been able to continue its preventive maintenance work, which should help the power situation, according to the spokesman.

While Lincolnites set another record Friday, consumers of the Nebraska Public Power District came close, an NPPD spokesman said.

A peak demand of 1,496,000 kwh occurred at 5 p.m. Friday, compared to Thursday's high of 1,483,000 kwh. However, the spokesman said usage earlier this week was more than 1,500,000 kwh.

The NPPD area included is statewide from Scottsbluff to just west of Omaha.

Water Use Down

Unlike electricity, a sharp dropoff occurred in water consumption in Lincoln Friday, according to Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf. Thursday's total was 89,947,000 gallons, while Friday's would be "a slightly larger amount" than 60.5 million gallons, Schwartzkopf estimated.

He attributed the drop to Lincolnites' compliance with his request that lawns be watered only on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Schwartzkopf said he was "highly pleased" with the response to his request, but he reminded Lincoln residents to use water "sensibly."

Nemaha Valley Museum Moves Ahead

Auburn — This city's bicentennial committee has negotiated the purchase of a building in Auburn for the Nemaha Valley Museum and will take possession Aug. 1 of a three-story building across the street south from the Nemaha County Courthouse. According to Chris Simon, committee chairman, a professional curator will give the local group guidance in preliminary work for the museum.

Bishop Flavin Reveals Appointments

The Most Rev. Glennon P. Flavin, bishop of the Lincoln Catholic Diocese, has announced two clergy appointments. The Rev. Robert Wuest was named pastor of St. Benedict's Church at Nebraska City, succeeding the Rev. Edmund Weigel, who has been given an assignment outside the diocese. The Rev. Thomas Ozanne was appointed assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church at Nebraska City.

Hastings Sets New Power Mark

Hastings (AP) — The City of Hastings used 49,600 kilowatts of electricity Thursday, breaking a record set last August. John Foster, city utilities manager, said daily consumption during the 100-degree weather has been running more than 40,000 kilowatts each day. He also said the city used nearly 18 million gallons of water July 8. The city is pumping from its 16 wells between 16 to 18 hours per day at near capacity, but could produce 22 million gallons a day if necessary, he explained.

Camping Fee Collections Start July 17

Omaha — The Omaha District of the Corps of Engineers will begin collecting camping fees at seven additional overnight campgrounds July 17, as required by a new law signed by President Nixon June 7. The law requires fees if the facilities are provided at federal expense. In the Omaha District the new fees vary from $1 to $2.50 per night at 17 campgrounds on the Missouri River Lakes, located in Nebraska, the Dakotas and Montana. Those campgrounds are located at Lewis and Clark Lake in Nebraska and South Dakota; Lake Francis Case, Lake Sharpe and Lake Oahe, in South Dakota; Lake Sakakawea in North Dakota; and Fort Peck Lake in Montana.

West Point Bank Sold

West Point — Eldon G. Freudenburg, president of the First National Bank in West Point, has announced the sale of controlling interest in the bank to J. D. Schiermeyer and Associates of Lincoln, effective July 26. The bank has been owned by Freudenburg and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Freudenburg since 1956. The younger Freudenburg became president following the death of his father about two years ago.

Baby Sets Hospital Record

Scottsbluff — Bradley Jay Green, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Roger Green of Scottsbluff, recently set a new record at West Nebraska General Hospital here. Upon his birth July 4, the baby weighted 13 pounds, five and three-quarters ounces, the heaviest infant to be born in the hospital's new facilities since July 6, 1970, when an 11 pound, 12½ ounce baby was born, according to hospital statistics. The Rev. Mr. Green is pastor of First Wesleyan Church in Scottsbluff.

Counties May Adopt ESUs

Voters in four counties will decide this November whether or not to join Educational Service Units (ESUs), Secretary of State Allen J. Beermann said Friday.

He said petition drives in Frontier, Garden, Hayes and McPherson Counties apparently received signatures of 20% of the registered voters needed to put the question on the ballot.

ESUs are taxing districts which provide special educational services to children in various groupings of school districts.

Beermann said the petitions seek to include Frontier County in ESU #15, Garden County in ESU #14, Hayes County in ESU #15 and McPherson County in ESU #16.

According to old news reports, Garden and Hayes Counties at one time belonged to ESUs but later voted themselves out.

Government To Lay Off Nebraskans

Omaha (AP) — About 200 workers in Nebraska and Iowa are among the 8,500 federal employes to be laid off because of budget cuts, an Omaha official of the American Federation of Government Employes said.

They include mechanics and custodians under the General Servies Administration (GSA) said Carl Holt, international representative for the union. He said between 50 and 60 workers will lose their jobs in Omaha.

Lay-off notices are scheduled to be issued at the end of August, with jobs teminating October 1, he said. The reduction will mean a "drastic curtailment" in maintenance and protection of federal buildings, he said.

Cooler Weekend Weather Prediction Now Vanishes

Although Lincoln sweltered again Friday as the mercury soared to 103 degrees, the day's high was still eight degrees below the record mark of 111 degrees for July 12, established in 1939.

Late Friday afternoon, the National Weather Service issued an explanation of what happened to the cooler weather earlier predicted for the state Friday and Saturday.

A front in Nebraska "has stalled out and with hot air on both sides" rapidly losing its identity, the NWS dispatch noted.

Omaha's 104-degree reading topped the state Friday, followed by 103 degrees at Lincoln and Norfolk, 102 degrees at Grand Island and 100 degrees at Chadron.

Friday marked the 11th day this year the temperature has reached 100 degrees or above in the Capital City.

There's no reprieve in the weekend forecast. Hot and sunny is the outlook for both Saturday and Sunday over the entire state. Highs are expected to reach 100-to-105 degrees both days, except for the extreme west, where highs will dip to the upper 90s.

A slight chance of thundershowers is forecast for the northeast Saturday night.

Parts of the north central, central and western portions of the state received thundershowers Friday, but most of Nebraska remains parched.

The extended outlook for Monday through Wednesday offers no hope for needed rainfall. Temperatures are expected to continue warm from the upper 80's to mid 90's with no mention of moisture.

Four Youths To Advance In Hoop, Frisbee Contest

Four youths won the right Friday night to represent Lincoln in the state Frisbee and Hula Hoop contest to be held at Auld Recreation Center Monday night.

Carrying Lincoln's banner in the Hula Hoop contest will be Meg Oehring, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Oehring, of 401 So. 48th, and Eki Ibanga, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ibanga, of 3824 N.W. 53rd.

Lincoln's entrants in the Frisbee competition will be Denise Horner, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Horner, of 3805 Tipperary, and Jim Johnston, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Fey, of 4425 Calvert.

Eki Ibanga who won his berth in the state competition by winning the division for boys 11 and under, said he had practiced "about five minutes a day for half a week" in preparation for the contest.

Denise Horner said she had not practiced with the Frisbee at all and only entered the contest as it was about to begin.

The Frisbee and Hula Hoop contests are sponsored by the Wham-O Manufacturing Co.

State winners advance to the regional contest to be held in St. Paul, Minn., in August. Regional winners receive a $100 savings bond, a trophy and a trip to the national hula hoop contest and the international Frisbee contest.

Walton Man Hurt In Crash

A Walton man was listed in "fair condition" at St. Elizabeth's Health center Friday with injuries he received in a car-pedestrian accident in Walton, according to Lancaster County Deputy Sheriff Dennis Kumm.

Kumm said Leland Isaacs, 37, suffered a broken ankle, broken wrist and elbow and other injuries when he was struck by a car driven by Stanley Brill, 27, of rural Lincoln.

Kumm said Isaacs had been playing softball and was chasing a foul ball when he was struck by the car.

Cattle Advisors Tab Nebraskans

Washington — Three Nebraskans have been named to serve on the newly established Cattle Industry Advisory Committee to advise the Secretary of Agriculture on the cattle segment of U.S. agriculture.

The three Nebraskans on the committee are producers A. George Alexander, Deshler, and H. W. "Bud" Harrington, Grand Island; and Dr. Frank H. Baker, University of Nebraska-Lincoln animal science department chairman.

Murder Appeal Filed With Clerk

On file Friday with the clerk of the state Supreme Court was an appeal notice on the Douglas County District Court first degree murder conviction of Patrick Ronald Russell.

Russell, who was 17-years-old at the time, was convicted of murder in connection with the strangulation of Joseph Mathew Edmonds, 8, of Omaha, on Nov. 10, 1973.

Administrators Resign

Omaha (AP) — Two more administrators have resigned from their faculty positions with the University of Nebraska College of Medicine.

Dr. Francis L. Land, who has been instrumental in the development of the school's family practice department, and Dr. Robert Messer, chairman of the Department of Obstetrics-Gynecology, will leave about Sept. 1. The obstetrics department has five vacancies among its eight full-time physicians posts.

Both Dr. Land and Dr. Messer are going to the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque where they will join Dr. Robert Kugel, head of the NU College of Medicine, who becomes New Mexico's vice president for health affairs on Aug. 1.

The fourth resignation was that of Dr. Charles T. Yarington Jr., head of the Department of Otolaryngology.

In three of the four cases, those resigning said campus unrest related to such issues as abortions and physicians fees influenced their decisions.

Fund Earmarked For Free Tuitions

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska State College Board of Trustees Friday ended a two-month standoff over the use of $360,000 in student aid.

On a 4-3 vote, the board decided to use the entire amount for tuition waivers.

During the board's two previous meetings, efforts to resolve the issue ended in 3-3 deadlocks.

The money in question was appropriated by the 1974 legislature, which directed that the funds budgeted for the coming school year be used for tuition reductions and waivers.

One group of board members wanted to make use of the money as a way of lowering tuitions for all state college students by 50 cents per credit hour. The current charge is $15.50 per credit hour.

In addition to the lowering of all tuitions, that group felt there would be enough of the money left over to allow 326 deserving students to attend college tuition-free.

Another group of board members suggested that all the money be given to the deserving students.

Friday, the board scrapped the 50-cent reduction plan, and earmarked the entire appropriation for tuition waivers. The waivers will be issued at the discretion of the presidents of each of the four state colleges.

Treaty Defense Terms Discussion Underway

By GORDON WINTERS
Star Staff Writer

Discussions were underway Friday on the terms under which the Treaty of 1868 would be heard in Wounded Knee cases, with a six-week summer recess for preparation of the treaty defense appearing possible.

Defense attorneys Clyde Henning and Robert Heeney said an arrangement was being considered under which the treaty defense would be heard once, with U.S. District Judge Warren K. Urbom's ruling to be binding on the case of all 117 defendants in Wounded Knee cases.

The treaty ruling, according to John Thomas of the Wounded Knee Defense-Offense Committee, "will affect every Indian in the Western Hemisphere."

"The treaty is our blood and our lifeline," Thomas said. "The government was dealing with the Indian people as a nation.

"If we have no treaty rights then the people in this country have no constitutional rights. The treaty is on an equal par with the Constitution.

"This is what Wounded Knee was all about. We declared ourselves an independent Oglala Sioux nation. We want the government to recognize our sovereignty."

It appeared probable that treaty defense would be used in the trial involving Gregorio Jaramillo and Michael Sturdevant unless Judge Urbom would grant a motion to acquit the two men after the prosecution finishes its case.

The negotiations underway concerned whether the treaty would be heard once, with Judge Urbom's decision binding on all 117 Wounded Knee defendants, or whether the treaty defense would be heard repeatedly in individual cases.

An agreement that the treaty would be heard only once apparently will require the agreement of all 117 defendants, the prosecution and Judge Urbom.

Thomas said that as many as 100 to 200 defense witnesses may be called in the treaty defense. Those witnesses would include traditional Indian leaders, holy men, historians such as Dee Brown and Vine DeLoria and international treaty experts.

A major element in the treaty defense appears to be that the Pine Ridge Reservation, including Wounded Knee, should be considered a separate nation, raising an issue whether federal officials had any right to be there.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals for remodeling of Trabert Hall, Lincoln, Nebraska will be received by the County Commissioners, Lancaster County, Lincoln, Nebraska at the County Clerk's Office, County-City Building until 1:30 P.M., C.D.S.T., Tuesday, July 30, 1974, at which time all proposals will be publicly opened and read aloud.

The project consists of furnishing all materials, labor and equipment necessary to complete the remodeling work in Trabert Hall, Lincoln, Nebraska, as described on the plans and specifications prepared by the Architect, Davis/Fenton/Stange/Darling, 226 Stuart Building, Lincoln, Nebraska.

Sealed proposals are required and separate prime contracts will be awarded for the following parts of the project:
(1) General Work
(2) Electrical Work

Any proposals received after the official closing time will be returned unopened.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a Bid Bond payable to the County Treasurer, in the amount of 5% of the total proposal. If Bid Security is not received with the proposal, such proposal will not be considered.

Each successful bidder shall furnish and pay for, as part of his contract, a performance bond and a labor and material payment bond as set forth in the specifications.

All bids shall be made on the printed proposal form which will be issued by the Architect. All proposals shall remain in effect for a period of 30 calendar days after the scheduled closing time for the receipt of proposals.

Plans and specifications may be examined at the following locations: The office of the Architects, Davis/Fenton/Stange/Darling, 226 Stuart Building, Lincoln, Nebraska, and the Lincoln Builders' Bureau, 507 "J" Street, Lincoln, Nebraska. Copies of the plans and specifications may be obtained from the Architect upon request.

The Lancaster County Commissioners, Lincoln, Nebraska, reserve the right to reject any or all bids and to waive any informalities in any proposal.

By: Carl Hartman, County Clerk
Lancaster County

Sneed Leads Quad Cities Open

BETTENDORF, Iowa (UPI) — Ed Sneed, putting with the same confidence he had in winning last week's Greater Milwaukee Open, fired a six-under-par 65 Friday to take a one stroke lead after two rounds of the $100,000 Quad Cities Open.

Sneed overcame 90-degree heat and high humidity to lower his 36-hole total to a 10-under-par 132, one stroke better than former U.S. Amateur Champion Bruce Fleisher and Mike Morley. Sneed's 132 equalled the lowest 36-hole score on this year's pro tour, matching Jack Nicklaus' showing at the Hawaiian Open and Hubert Green's performance at the Memphis Classic. However, both Nicklaus and Green, though at 132 after two rounds, were 12 under par.

Fleisher equalled the course record with an eight-under-par 63 to go with his first round 70 for a 133—one stroke off the lead. John Schroeder set the record for the Crow Valley course, firing a 63 in last year's Quad Cities Open.

Morley carded a 64, his best round ever on the tour, after an opening 69 to tie Fleisher at 133.

Two strokes off the pace with eight-under-par 134s were veterans Sam Snead and Labron Harris Jr. Snead, seeking his first tour win since 1965, shot a six-under-par 65 while Harris recorded his second consecutive 67.

Sneed, who led after each round in the Greater Milwaukee Open, said his strong putting, which included a 30-footer for an eagle on the 18th hole, resulted from "increased confidence" that comes from winning.

"I feel that I can go up there now and shoot for the pin and make the putts," said Sneed, who is attempting to join Johnny Miller as the only pros who have won back-to-back tourneys this year. "I'm doing especially well on the par 5s, which is again a matter of confidence."

Fleisher used a string of four straight birdies and holed a 150-yard eagle on the 15th hole to vault into contention. He agreed with Sneed that "confidence was the name of the game."

Morley also carded an eagle with a 103-yard shot on the first hole.

Twelve players scored 67 or better in Friday's second round play.

Bob Eastwood, who led after the first round, with a 65, slumped to an even-par 71 and was four strokes off the lead.

Hudland Leads Oaks To Win

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Iowa reliever Mike Hudland pitched near-perfect baseball for 5 2-3 innings Friday night as the Oaks defeated Omaha, 6-3.

Hedlund faced the minimum number of batters (16) after coming on with one out in the fourth.

Omaha shortstop Jamie Quirk got a leadoff walk in the eighth, but was erased when Gary Rahe hit into a double play.

The victory was Hedlund's second against seven losses, though he entered the game with a 2.61 ERA.

Horton Slated For Treatment

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Tiger outfielder Willie Horton will enter a hospital here Saturday for treatment on a knee injury that has handicapped him for nearly two months.

Horton, 30, who ruptured cartilege in his right knee when he collided with the grandstand wall at Tiger Stadium in May, will be placed on the disabled list for a minimum of 15 days, team General Manager Jim Campbell said.

Doctors said Horton's knee would be placed in a cast for about a week. Further tests will then be made to determine whether he will need surgery, they said.

U.S. Rips Brazil

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — John Lucas and Luther Burden led the United States to an easy 103-83 victory over Brazil Friday night to set up a first-place confrontation with Yugoslavia in the World Basketball Championships here.

Lucas, a starter from Maryland, and Burden, a substitute from Utah, by themselves nearly outscored Brazil in the first half. Lucas, a southpaw, had six field goals and 15 points. Burden added 12 points for a combined total of 27 as the U.S. mounted a 45-32 halftime lead.

Osceola Falls In Tournament

Genoa (AP) — Sprague-Martell advanced to the second round of the state semi-pro baseball tournament here Friday night with a 9-2 victory over Osceola.

They jumped on the Indians with a two-run first inning on an error, Terry Egger's double and a single by Roger Buhrmann.

Sprague-Martell put the game away in the second inning with four runs.

Osceola's Ken Winklemann had a double and single with two rbi's.

Bootlegger's Pet Wins Handicap Feature Race

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — Charles Patrick was at a party Thursday night and there was one question everyone wanted to know about his Bootlegger's Pet — "By how much ... how much will it win by?"

"When they get 3-5, 4-5 or even-money, that's the time they get beat," Patrick said of his prize 4-year-old colt who romped to a 4½-length verdict here Friday in the $26,075 Nebraska Racing Hall of Fame Handicap at Ak-Sar-Ben.

"I'd rather the horse was 5-1 or 6-1 then like that because that's when they don't win," he said. "If things go like I think they will, I'll bring my whole stable (10-12 horses) here next year. Hell yes, he's the best one I have."

Ridden by Burl McBride, Bootlegger's Pet justified his 6-5 backing by the crowd of 15,834. He broke on top and then let Ken Opstein's Indian assume a two-length lead down the backstretch.

That's when McBride went to work. He began urging Bootlegger's Pet to the front around the turn for home and hit him ever so gently with the whip a few times down the stretch run of the mile and 1/16th chase.

He quickly pulled away from his four foes and was all alone at the wire.

Tom Sisson was riding Bootlegger in a race at Oaklawn Park in February, when he was involved in clipping another horse's heels. Sisson fell and the horse stepped on the rider and cracked his heelbone.

"Burl and him were real good friends and we rode together in the ambulance to the hospital" Patrick said. "That's when I first met him. I'll say it's been a good meeting for us. I've won almost $45,000 on the two rides that Burl has given Bootlegger's Pet."

For Bootlegger's Pet, it added $14,359.55 to his 1974 bankroll that now shows $92,759 on five triumphs, two seconds and one third in 15 outings.

In running a 1:41 timing (the fastest mile-70-yard clocking here this season), Bootlegger's Pet returned $4.40, $3.20 and $2.20. C. E. Johnson and Bennet Radaziner's Ben's Whiz placed for $4.00 and $2.60. The Shinrone Farm's Dr. Pantano, a nose behind Ben's Whiz and only a neck ahead of Mrs. W. F. Frazee's High Rover, showed for $2.40.
